PLANNING A FILM SHOW?

£750,000 on fire! This heart-rending spectacle can be seen in the Bank of Scotland's seven-minute award winning 16mm. film "MONEY TO BURN."

For the very first time, cameras have captured in colour all the bustle and excitement of an event which, until recently, no one outside banking circles had been allowed to witness—the burning of thousands of banknotes.

"MONEY TO BURN" is the second film sponsored by the Bank of Scotland. The first was "PARTNERS IN PROGRESS," a twenty-minute colour production in which a human interest story is linked with instructional information on modern banking procedures.

These 16mm films are bookable, together or separately through any of the Bank's branches or by direct application to:

THE HIERARCHY OF SCOTLAND

From the Extinction of the Hierarchy in 1603 till its Restoration in 1878.

1. The ancient Hierarchy ended with James Betoun, Abp. of Glasgow, who died at Paris on the 25th April, 1603, aged 79. After being subjected to the jurisdiction of the Archpriests and first Vicar-Apostolic of England till 1623, and afterwards to local Prefects of the Mission, the Clergy were incorporated into a missionary body by decree of Propaganda, 1653, and governed by the following Prefects-Apostolic: William Ballantyne (or Bellenden), 1653-61; Alexander Dunbar (or Winster), 1662-68, 1672-94; and John Walker (or Ross), 1668-71. In May, 1694, a Scottish Vicariate-Apostolic was established. This was divided into two Districts, the Lowland and the Highland, in February, 1731; and these two into three, the Eastern, Western and Northern, by Papal Rescript of 13th February, 1827. This last arrangement remained in force till the re-establishment of the Hierarchy by the Apostolic Letter, Ex Supremo Apostolatus Apice, 4th March, 1878.

ARCHBISHOPS AND BISHOPS OF SCOTLAND

From the Restoration of the Hierarchy in 1878

The Apostolic Letter "Ex Supremo Apostolatus Apice" of Leo XIII, 4th March, 1878, divided Scotland into the Province of St. Andrews and Edinburgh (with four Suffragan Sees) and the Archdiocese of Glasgow, which was directly subject to the Holy See. By the Apostolic Constitution "Maxime Interest" of Pius XII, 25th May, 1947, and the Apostolic Constitution "Dominici Gregis" of the same date, the Archdiocese of Glasgow was erected into a Province and divided into the Metropolitan See of Glasgow with the Suffragan Sees of Motherwell and Paisley.

BAUCHI PROVINCE, NORTHERN NIGERIA.

This Province was officially adopted by the Archdiocese in 1964. It is part of the Diocese of Jos. The population is about two and a quarter million of whom about a million are Mohammedans. There are at present about three thousand Catholics and at least a million pagans who are the immediate potential for conversion to Catholicism. The Archdiocese is now responsible for the staffing and financing of the Church in this area. It is as big, if not a little bigger than the whole of Scotland. At present, there are four parishes, which are staffed by priests of the Archdiocese.

DIOCESE OF ARGYLL AND THE ISLES

Comprising Counties of Argyll and Inverness (south of a line drawn from the northern extremity of Loch Luing to the junction of the Counties of Inverness, Aberdeen and Banff); the Islands of Bute and Arran and the Hebrides.

The See of Argyll was founded about 1200, being disjoined from the Diocese of Dunkeld; and was vacant for more than three centuries. James Hamilton was appointed to the See on 14th July, 1553, but was probably never consecrated.

The See of the Isles (Insularum or Sodorensis) is said to have been founded about 447 by St. Patrick, who consecrated Germanus, its first Bishop; it was united to Man till the end of the 14th century; and was vacant for 325 years, from the death of Roderick Maclean in 1553 till the Restoration of the Hierarchy in 1878.

OBITUARIES — 1967

Rev. James Fletcher — 12th January, 1967.

Father James Fletcher was born at Kirkfieldbank, near Lanark, on 6th September, 1899. As a student in St. Mary's College, Blairs, and later at St. Peter's Seminary, Bearsden, he gave an outstanding example of singleness of purpose in his prayer and studies and in all that contributed to the formation of the priestly character. He set before himself a high ideal and aimed to achieve it. There is no question that Father Fletcher was endowed with unusual talents. These he did not bury in the ground but cultivated them so that they would serve him well in his priestly work.

After his ordination in 1924, he was appointed to the large city parish of St. John's. Here the men and boys in particular benefited from his organising ability and his deep appreciation of all that was necessary for their spiritual and temporal welfare. From St. John's, where he laboured for some eleven years, he was transferred to another large city parish, Sacred Heart, Bridgeton. When men were leaving the parish during the war, Father Fletcher felt it his duty to follow them and to minister to their spiritual needs in time of difficulty and danger. In India, where he spent most of the war years as Chaplain, he had to endure much hardship which he resolutely faced with the fortitude of the priest. After service abroad and also in Britain, he returned to diocesan work and was given charge of the new parish of St. Constantine, Govan, in 1945. Here he accomplished the task of renovating and decorating the church in a manner that was in keeping with his artistic gifts. He was responsible for the building of a new presbytery, and also for the hall so much appreciated by his parishioners.

In one respect Father Fletcher seemed to be in advance of his time. He brought the lay people into the work of the parish and showed great respect for their judgment. In one sense he seemed also to anticipate in his own attitude another of the new dimensions of thinking released by Vatican II, and that was a new tolerance and understanding of the non-Catholic mind. He was, therefore, as a priest assiduous in establishing good relations with all local bodies whose members much appreciated the cordiality of his approach.

Of all Catholic societies, one was dear to his heart, the Catholic Truth Society, the Glasgow branch of which had him as Chairman and Vice-Chairman. He had a very high and just conception of its role in the life of the Church in Scotland and could be severe in his criticism of those who seemed to consider the propagation of Catholic Truth as one of the peripheral matters with which the Church in Scotland was concerned instead of being, as he thought, its central raison d'être. His interventions in debate were always lively and telling, and on the occasions when he occupied the chair at C.T.S. meetings he displayed an incisiveness and lucidity of mind that greatly forwarded the business of the meetings. At higher level on the Scottish National Council of the C.T.S., Father Fletcher's qualities of mind and character were always in evidence and earned him the respect and affection of those delegates from other dioceses who had the privilege of working with him. Outside of formal meetings he would meet small groups in a social capacity, where lively discussion would make clear his deep concern for many of the problems facing the Church in modern Scotland. Two of these he thought of major importance, the spiritual and practical problems of Christian marriage. Father Fletcher was one of those concerned with the introduction of the now celebrated Cana Conferences.

He had close association with two of Glasgow's large secondary schools. In these he devoted himself to the Sixth Form, where he showed a depth of understanding and a freshness of approach that was appreciated by all.

A sudden heart attack brought to an end the life of a busy priest. After a short but acute illness, Father Fletcher died in peaceful resignation to the Will of God on 12th January, 1967. May he rest in peace.

Very Rev. John Canon Boyle — 22nd January, 1967.

The Very Rev. John Canon Boyle, parish priest of St. John's, Portugal Street, Glasgow, for twenty-one years, died in Killearn Hospital on Sunday, 22nd January, 1967, in the 75th year of his age, and the 49th year of his priesthood.

John Boyle was born at Cambuslang on the 9th December, 1892. He entered Blairs College, Aberdeen, on 29th August, 1907, and upon the completion of his secondary studies was transferred to the diocesan seminary of Bourges in October, 1912, and later to that of Angers in February, 1915. The events of the First World War obliged him to leave France, and in September, 1917, he returned to Scotland to complete his preparatory studies for the priesthood at St. Peter's College, Bearsden. He was ordained priest in St. Andrew's Cathedral, Glasgow, by Archbishop Maguire on 24th June, 1918.

His first appointment after ordination was to St. Alphonsus', Glasgow, where he spent the formative years of his priestly life as assistant priest to Canon O'Reilly. This first curacy lasted for eight years, until 1926 when he was transferred to St. Patrick's, Shotts, for a brief period of two years. In 1928, he was appointed to St. Patrick's, Dumbarton, and served as a curate there under Mgr. Hugh Kelly for the following nine years.

Father Boyle's first appointment as parish priest came in 1937 when the parish of St. Mary's, Cleland, was committed to his care. He remained in these tranquil surroundings for the next seven years, and had the happiness of celebrating there the silver jubilee of his ordination to the priesthood. The year 1944 saw his return, after a lengthy absence, to the bustle of city life, with his appointment as parish priest of St. Luke's, Glasgow. His pastorate in St. Luke's proved, in the event, to be a transitional one, for, two years later, owing to the retreat through ill-health of Father Corr, the neighbouring parish of St. John's became vacant, and on the 18th January, 1946, Father Boyle was called upon by the archbishop to take charge of this venerable parish.

He was to spend the next twenty-one years in the Gorbals, and although he always retained a loyal affection for his former parishes, St. John's became the great pride of his life. He was immensely proud of his church and parish, and had the joy of seeing the church consecrated in 1951. Under his supervision the interior of the church was extensively renovated, a new baptistery built, and modern heating, lighting and loudspeaker systems installed.

In September, 1955, Father Boyle was appointed a Canon of the Cathedral Chapter, an event which was marked by a presentation at which many tributes were paid to the new canon by colleagues and parishioners past and present. Particular reference was made to his many years of service as Religious Inspector of Schools, leading finally to his appointment as Chief Religious Examiner for the Glasgow Archdiocese.

A simple enumeration of the various appointments held over the years by Canon Boyle tells us nothing of the remarkable priestly and human qualities which endeared him to all with whom he came into contact. The solid spiritual formation he received in the Sulpician tradition from the French seminaries clearly had a powerful formative influence on his life as a priest, and was the motivating factor behind the faithful discharge of his personal exercises of piety. He was proud to be a priest, happy and content in his work as a priest, and a jealous upholder of the dignity of the priesthood. He took an optimistic view of human nature, and was always ready to show patient tolerance and a fatherly understanding of human frailty and failings. This sane and balanced outlook was reflected in his kindly, sympathetic and jovial manner of dealing with people, and his youthful good humour was always very much in evidence. Perhaps as a result of his long association with the schools as Religious Inspector, he was very much at home in the company of children, and his instructions, or more truthfully "dialogue" at the Children's Mass were awaited as eagerly by the adults as by the children.

Canon Boyle, whose own family origins were rooted in Donegal, was proud of the historic link between that county and St. John's parish, and this was shown by his interest in the Donegal people and his encouragement of the annual Gaelic service for the feast of St. Patrick. Appropriately, his last public appearance before his death was on the platform at the Donegal Association Rally in 1966 when the Bishop of Raphoe was welcomed to Glasgow.

Canon Boyle's health, which in later years had never been robust, showed a marked deterioration in August, 1966. By the end of the year it was apparent that he was seriously ill, and he was removed to the Bon Secours Hospital in January, 1967. In expressing gratitude to a priest friend who visited him and promised to offer Mass for him, he confided that he was well aware that he had said his own last Mass and that the end was near. On 18th January, 1967, twenty-one years to the day since his arrival in St. John's, he was transferred to Killearn Hospital, where he died on 22nd January, 1967.

Solemn Requiem Mass was celebrated in St. John's, Portugal Street, on Wednesday, 25th January, 1967, by the Archbishop of Glasgow, the Most Rev. James Donald Scanlan, D.C.L., B.L., in the presence of Bishop Hart of Dunkeld, Bishop Ward, V.G., and a very large representation of clergy and parishioners. The mortal remains of Canon Boyle were afterwards laid to rest beside his fellow priests in St. Peter's Cemetery, Dalbeth. May he rest in peace.

Rev. Gerard Dunn — 13th February, 1967

The Archdiocese of Glasgow lost one of its outstanding priests by the sudden death of Father Gerard Dunn on 13th February, 1967.

He was born in Glasgow on 10th March, 1910—the youngest of a well-known Glasgow Catholic family. He began his education at St. Aloysius' College, and entered on his studies for the priesthood at Ushaw College, Durham. The cross he was to carry during his life and which was to shape his spiritual life began during his studies. He became seriously ill, and spent many months at Kingussie Sanatorium. His selfless concern for others became apparent then, in his relationship with the other patients and the staff of the hospital. It was to the Mother of God he attributed his recovery, and this devotion increased with the years.

His desire to be a priest never wavered and so he went to continue his studies in a more favourable climate, at Fribourg University in Switzerland. He was ordained in Southwark Cathedral by His Grace Archbishop Amigo on 2nd April, 1938.

The parish of Holy Cross, Croy, was the first to experience the priestly zeal of Father Dunn. This was an interim appointment lasting only a few months, after which he was transferred to St. Ninian's, Kirkintilloch. Here he was to spend most of his priestly life and labours during a period lasting over twenty years. Again he was afflicted by serious illness, suffering a severe heart attack. After some months he returned and once more began his dedicated work. So successful was he with the C.Y.M.S. in his parish that he was appointed as Chaplain to the Archdiocesan Council of the C.Y.M.S. of Glasgow. He remained in this position till the day of his death.

In 1959 he was transferred from his beloved Kirkintilloch to open the new parish of St. Bernard's, Nitshill. He was truly a pastoral priest—and during his eight years in St. Bernard's all his many talents came to flower. Here he built a hall, a presbytery, and a beautiful church. Again he was to suffer; this time the loss of an eye. But, as always, those who went to visit him came away full of admiration at his calm resignation. He had walked with death during his life, and when God called him suddenly on 13th February, 1967, Father Dunn was not unprepared.

He was an unforgettable character, and his quiet and casual manner disguised a deep spirituality and a great warmth of personality. His parishioners were quick to discern in him a man of prayer, and their great love for him was evident in their sincere sorrow at his death.

In all walks of life much depends on the character of the man. Father Dunn had a great talent for friendship and this came through in all his relationships with people. Each one felt he was personally interested in them, and they loved him for it. But, with Father Dunn, walking as he did always with God, the grace of God acted through that nature, and any one who came in contact with him was the better for it.

He will be remembered as a priest of exceptional self-discipline, a man of great qualities of mind and heart, a wise and prudent counsellor, but above all as a prayerful priest of great sanctity and humility.

His Grace Archbishop Scanlan celebrated Pontifical Requiem Mass in St. Bernard's, Nitshill, on Thursday, 16th February, 1967. The crowded congregation heard His Grace speak of the steadfast courage of Father Dunn during years of illness—years of selfless, zealous work for souls. May his great soul rest in peace.

Rev. James Fitzgibbon — 15th April, 1967.

Death has taken a heavy toll of the parish priests of the Archdiocese of Glasgow in 1967. Father Fitzgibbon was the fourth to be called by Almighty God, and since his death in April, four further deaths have occurred. The death of Father Fitzgibbon did not come as a great surprise to his relatives and friends who had watched with sadness the steady deterioration of his health for a considerable time. He was able, however, to make a short visit to his brother and sisters in Limerick for the New Year, but shortly after his return to Glasgow he had to enter the Bon Secours Hospital, where the Sisters nursed him with loving care until his death. A fighter to the last, he was able, despite his infirmity, to be up every day and to walk about a little. Realising that he could not expect to return to active parochial duties in Springburn, he was about to retire and to seek the hospitality of his relatives in Ireland, and arrangements had been made for his journey. At the same time he expressed a desire to be buried in Glasgow from his own Parish Church of St. Aloysius. It was the latter wish that God granted him. A further heart attack in the early morning of Saturday, 15th April, proved fatal. He died at noon of that day. His curates—Fathers Mulhall, Loughlin and O'Farrell—who had been so attentive to him in his illness, were there with him to the last moment of his earthly life.

James Fitzgibbon was born at Caherconlish, Co. Limerick, on 5th July, 1902. He received his secondary education at St. Munchin's Diocesan College, Limerick, but being a subject of the Archdiocese of Cashel by birth, he entered St. Patrick's College, Thurles, Co. Tipperary, in September, 1921, to begin his studies for the priesthood. Full of life and vigour, endowed with an organising ability in a marked degree, and coming, moreover, from a family already famed for their athletic prowess, "Fitz," as he was familiarly called, was soon a leader in promoting and participating in all the manly games that were such a feature of all the Irish Ecclesiastical Seminaries. Contemporaries of his in St. Patrick's, most of whom are in the American and Australian Missions, have heard of his death with much regret.

Completing his studies, he was ordained to the priesthood for the Archdiocese of Glasgow in the Cathedral, Thurles, on 10th June, 1928, by His Grace the Most Rev. John M. Harty, D.D., Archbishop of Cashel. Eighteen fellow-students were ordained on the same day.

After his arrival in Glasgow, he spent a short time supplying in Holy Cross, Crosshill, before receiving a permanent curacy in the parish of the Immaculate Conception, Maryhill. Subsequently, he was assistant in St. Patrick's, Anderston; St. Margaret's, Airdrie; and St. Mark's, Carntyne. In those parishes, after a lapse of many years, he is still fondly remembered, and it is a tribute to his work, zeal and character, that all were represented by members of the faithful at his funeral.

At the outbreak of the war in 1939, Father Fitzgibbon volunteered his services as Chaplain to the Forces, and being accepted, he spent a few months in the South of England. Early in 1940, he was drafted to France with the British Expeditionary Force, and was stationed between Arras and Lille during what was known as the "phony war." After the German invasion of France in May-June, 1940, he was with the British Forces in the historic retreat to Dunkirk and succeeded in getting aboard a small boat which took him safely to Dover. In the escape, however, he received an injury to his back, from which he never fully recovered.

His next appointment was to Northern Ireland, and it was there that Father Fitzgibbon did his greatest job as Chaplain to the Forces. In Belfast, in Derry, in many rural areas, he served not only British but American troops, and through his free and easy manner and diplomacy made hosts of friends amongst the soldiers and also the priests and Catholic laity in many parts of the Province.

When demobilisation began in 1946, he was transferred to the Middle East, but with the war at last over, he was anxious to leave the Army and return to Glasgow. After a brief but very happy curacy in St. Columba's, he was appointed Parish Priest of the recently established parish of the Immaculate Heart of Mary, Balornock, in 1948. This parish, consisting chiefly of a new housing scheme adjacent to Springburn had, as yet, neither church nor presbytery. Masses were celebrated on Sundays in a local school. With characteristic vigour, Father Fitzgibbon had, within weeks, purchased a spacious house in Balgrayhill Road, with a large room attached which was to serve as an oratory where the Blessed Sacrament was reserved and Masses celebrated on week-days. But he had a serious disappointment when it was found, after much preliminary work had been done, that solid foundations could not be found in the site reserved for the new church. However, within a month, he had purchased a suitable site in Broomfield Road and it was there that the attractive new church was opened by His Grace, Most Rev. Donald A. Campbell, the late Archbishop, in 1951. Moreover, the houses adjoining the church were purchased, so that church and presbytery were now beside each other. We are happy to relate that the parish of the Immaculate Heart of Mary with its church and presbytery right opposite Springburn Park has done great things for the glory of God since 1951.

In 1957, the parent parish of St. Aloysius', Springburn, became vacant through the deaths in quick succession of Canon Dennehy and Father Rogers. Father Fitzgibbon was appointed to succeed them and the many venerable pastors who had ruled over the destinies of this ancient and historic parish. Relieved of the burdens of erecting new buildings and collecting money to pay for them, he was now able to devote more of his time and energy to the pastoral care of the faithful, and he was a constant visitor around the various districts of the parish, and, until his illness last January, was never absent from the Confessional at the appointed times. But his health had been deteriorating since 1964, the vigour of his earlier years was no longer apparent. Reluctantly, at first, but finally resigned to God's Will, he had to spend the last three months of his life in hospital.

Father Fitzgibbon's remains were borne into the church of St. Aloysius on Tuesday evening, 18th April, and His Lordship Bishop Ward presided in the sanctuary for the chanting of the Solemn Office of the Dead. The church was filled with priests and people.

On the following day, His Grace the Archbishop, Most Rev. James D. Scanlan, D.C.L., B.L., celebrated the Requiem High Mass for the repose of his soul. The deacon was Father Michael Sadlier, D.C.L., St. John's Cathedral, Limerick, and the sub-deacon Father James Sadlier, St. Mauchin's College, Limerick, both cousins of the deceased.

In his tribute after the Pontifical High Mass of Requiem, His Grace in one of his most eloquent and touching panegyrics, spoke of the life of Father Fitzgibbon as a priest in the Archdiocese, of the great service which he and other Chaplains had given to the men who had soldiered in France in 1939-40, and who had come back bereft of all their personal belongings.

His Grace offered his most profound sympathy to Father Fitzgibbon's brother, sister, sisters-in-law, nieces and nephews, cousins and friends who had travelled from Limerick for the funeral, and were present in the congregation. They were deeply grateful to His Grace for his heart-touching words.

His Grace added that he was deeply moved that morning at the sight of his good people of St. Aloysius' flocking to the altar rails in such large numbers. "That speaks for itself," he said, "in your devotion to your priests and, in particular, to your late departed parish priest."

Many priests and laity accompanied the remains to St. Kentigern's Cemetery, Lambhill, where Father Michael Sadlier recited the prayers before the burial.

On the morning of the funeral and at the same hour of the Mass in St. Aloysius', Solemn Requiem Mass was offered in St. Michael's Church, Limerick, the celebrant being Father Charles McGrath. Very Rev. Richard Canon Quinn, P.P., V.F., Galbally; Very Rev. Daniel Ryan, President, St. Patrick's College, Thurles, were among the large congregation of priests, relatives and friends who came from far and near to offer the Holy Sacrifice as a last tribute to a dearly beloved friend. May he rest in peace.

Very Rev. Patrick Canon Heaney — 20th May, 1967.

The Very Reverend Patrick Canon Heaney, parish priest of Sacred Heart, Bellshill, died at the Bon Secours Hospital, Langside, Glasgow, on 20th May, 1967. His death was rather unexpected in the sense that few, if any, of his friends realised that his condition was so serious when he was removed to the hospital a few weeks previously.

Born at Glasgow on 25th November, 1901, he studied at St. Mary's College, Blairs (1918-1922) and Scots College, Rome (1922-1929). He was ordained in Rome on 6th May, 1928. Returning to Scotland in 1929, he served for three years in Baillieston, two years in Barrhead and in 1934 he was appointed to Uddingston, where he remained for fifteen years. He was appointed parish priest of Biggar in 1949, transferred to Blackwood in 1950, and in 1953 took charge of the fairly new parish of Bargeddie, which brought him back to the scene of his first labours in Baillieston. While there, he became chaplain to the Catholic Women's League, a post he relinquished only when he was appointed to the important parish of Sacred Heart, Bellshill, in 1958. In 1961 he became a Religious Inspector of Schools and in 1964 a Canon of the Cathedral Chapter of Motherwell.

A rather shy and retiring nature, which made him seek always to avoid the limelight, hid a keen mind, a sympathetic understanding of people's problems and a capacity for spending himself in his run-of-the-mill parochial duties. He is still well remembered and spoken of with high esteem, particularly in Uddingston. In his latter years illnesses of several kinds curtailed his activities, but never dampened his sympathy and his willingness to serve his people to the best of his undoubted ability. May he rest in peace.

Rev. Daniel Kennedy — 28th May, 1967.

Rev. Daniel Kennedy was born in Mossend in December, 1908. He was educated at Holy Family School, Mossend, Our Lady's High, Motherwell, and St. Mary's College, Blairs. He completed his philosophical and theological studies at St. Peter's College, Bearsden, and was ordained priest by the late Archbishop Mackintosh in St. Andrew's Cathedral, Glasgow, on 29th June, 1934.

Father Kennedy served as a curate in Our Holy Redeemer's, Clydebank, St. Columbkille's, Rutherglen, St. Anthony's, Govan, St. Agnes', Lambhill, and St. Philomena's, Provanmill.

In 1955 he was appointed parish priest of St. James the Great, Crookston, by the late Archbishop Campbell, where he supervised the building of the new presbytery, but was not spared to see the completion of the new church for which he had laboured so hard.

Father Kennedy was a priest of unflinching courtesy and hospitality, and a man of strong conviction.

His parishioners found consolation in his priestly ministrations. They were edified by his instructions and homilies, the fruit of spiritual reading and prayerful preparation.

It was no surprise when Archbishop Scanlan asked Father Kennedy to accept the duty of Extraordinary Confessor and Spiritual Director to the nuns at the Carmelite Convent, Langside.

In September, 1966, Father Kennedy was constrained to enter Belvidere Hospital for medical treatment. On his return his parishioners observed with sympathetic sadness the rapid deterioration in his health throughout the months that followed. To the end he devoted himself to the welfare of his parishioners. His fortitude in suffering and patient resignation were an example to all.

The last week of his life was spent in St. Mary's Nursing Home, Lanark, where he died on 28th May, 1967, fortified by the Rites of Holy Church.

His mortal remains were brought to St. James', Crookston, where Solemn Requiem Mass was celebrated on 31st May, 1967, by His Lordship the Right Reverend James Ward, Bishop of Sita, who also preached the panegyric. The interment followed at St. Peter's Cemetery, Dalbeth. May he rest in peace.

The Right Reverend Edward Douglas, Bishop of Botrys

12th June 1967.

The Diocese of Motherwell, comprising the County of Lanark, was erected as a Suffragan See of the Archdiocese of Glasgow by the Apostolic Constitution "Maxime Interest" of the 25th May, 1947, and the first Bishop was the Right Reverend Edward Douglas.

He was born in Glasgow in 1901 in the parish of Holy Cross, and was educated there and at St. Aloysius' College, Glasgow. In 1916 he began his studies for the priesthood at St. Mary's College, Blairs, and in 1919, he joined the students who had returned from the war in St. Peter's College, Bearsden. From there he was raised to the priesthood in St. Andrew's Cathedral, Glasgow, by Archbishop Mackintosh on 1st May, 1924. For a few months he served at St. Margaret's, Airdrie, St. Bridget's, Baillieston, and St. Alphonsus', Glasgow. He was destined, however, to spend the next eighteen years of his life as a member of the teaching staff at St. Mary's College, Blairs, Aberdeen. He proved to be a devoted and gifted teacher and is remembered by many former students with gratitude and affection.

On his return to the Archdiocese the future Bishop was appointed to be parish priest of St. Joseph's, Glenboig, and also to be a religious inspector of schools for the Archdiocese. A few years later, he was promoted to St. Anthony's, Govan, and from there he was chosen to be the first Bishop of the newly formed Diocese of Motherwell. The church of Our Lady of Good Aid, Motherwell, was chosen to be the Cathedral and amid great splendour and rejoicing, he was consecrated on 21st April, 1948.

The duties of a Bishop are formidable at any time, but they are much more so if a new Diocese has to be formed. Bishop Douglas brought many gifts of mind and heart to the task which confronted him, and his humble kindly manner won the hearts of priests and people. With the help of Monsignor Gerard M. Rogers and several Diocesan Consultors, he set the wheels of administration in motion and soon the Diocese of Motherwell was moving smoothly and efficiently.

Bishop Douglas was destined to rule the Diocese for the short period of six years, but during that time much was accomplished. Fourteen new parishes were brought into being and fourteen new churches were erected. To enrich the religious life of his Diocese, the Bishop brought the Capuchin Fathers to Uddingston, the White Fathers to Rutherglen, the Xaverian Fathers to Biggar, the Helpers of the Holy Souls to found a Retreat House for women and girls at Newmains, the Poor Clares to Blantyre, and the Notre Dame Sisters to Fernhill, Rutherglen.

The erection of a Cathedral Chapter of Canons was announced from Rome on 8th November, 1952, and it gave great pleasure to the Bishop to be present in his Cathedral to see his Canons installed by the Apostolic Delegate to Great Britain, Archbishop William Godfrey, on 22nd September, 1953.

The responsibility of the Diocese with its rapid expansion proved to be too much for the health of Bishop Douglas, and it was with profound regret that priests and people learnt of his retiral on 15th February, 1954. He was translated to the Titular See of Botrys, left his residence at Uddingston, settled in the north of Scotland and eventually came to live at Fairlie, Ayrshire. During these thirteen years of retirement he suffered greatly and underwent a serious throat operation which would have daunted the bravest of men.

He survived this ordeal, but never was himself again. He died at the Bon Secours Hospital, Glasgow, on 12th June, 1967.

The Bishop had expressed the wish to be buried from his home parish of Holy Cross, Glasgow, and, after Pontifical Requiem there, he was buried in the cemetery at New Stevenston, Lanarkshire, at the very heart of the Diocese which he had loved.

Bishop Douglas was gifted beyond the ordinary. He possessed a crystal clear mind, could impart knowledge with ease and was able to delegate with such confidence that when he sought the assistance of others, they were prepared to go to great lengths to fulfil his wishes. He will always be remembered as a man of great charm and as the first Bishop of the Diocese of Motherwell. May he rest in peace.

Very Rev. Dermot Canon O'Reilly — 2nd July, 1967

Canon Dermot O'Reilly died in Dumfries Royal Infirmary on Sunday, 2nd July, 1967, aged 77, and in the fifty-first year of his priesthood. He was born in Killarney, Co. Kerry, on the 29th March, 1891, and in 1906 entered St. Brendan's Seminary, Killarney, passing from there to St. Patrick's College, Thurles, where he was ordained by Bishop Harty in 1916.

His first parish was St. John's, Cumnock, which in those far-off days served a much wider area than it does to-day. With his parish priest, Canon Meagher, he went five miles on alternate Sundays to serve St. Margaret's in New Cumnock, and further still to say Mass in a rented hall in Kirkconnel. On specified Sundays they went down the Ayr road to say Mass for the tiny Ochiltree congregation, gathered in Lord Bute's Hall.

From Cumnock Father O'Reilly was sent north to Irvine, a growing district, with several hospitals, whose patients he attended with great devotion. After this he spent some years in Ayr, before returning, in 1928, for a brief period in Irvine.

His first parish came in 1931, when he was sent to Gretna as resident priest. This was a very difficult post, as Gretna, which had flourished during the 1914-18 war and had become a separate mission in 1925, had now suffered decay when unemployment scourged the district. Father O'Reilly laboured tirelessly for his small parish but when he left for Dalbeattie his impoverished Gretna lost its independence and once again was served from Annan.

He moved from Dalbeattie to Kirkconnel and once again this move took him into an area of poverty where the Catholic congregation of the mining village had a dour struggle to keep the church in existence.

In 1938, for the third time, Father O'Reilly moved to Irvine. Additional parochial difficulties came with the outbreak of the Second World War with military camps in the area. To the constant visiting of Cunninghame Poorhouse and the Fever Hospital was added that of the new Irvine Central Hospital in 1942, but with his characteristic love of the sick and the aged, Father O'Reilly did not spare himself in catering for the spiritual care of these, his parishioners.

In 1951, another move took him to St. Brigid's, Kilbirnie. Changes had been going on here. Beith and Lochwinnoch had become separate charges in 1949, but even with this, Kilbirnie parish had a roll of nearly one thousand people attending a church which was old and inadequate. By 1957 Canon O'Reilly (he was elected to the Galloway Chapter in 1955) had extended the church, uniting the old and the new in perfect harmony. The restored church was opened by Bishop McGee on 2nd June, 1957. The Canon's final step in the modernisation of St. Brigid's parish was the acquisition of a new chapel house, next door to the church. The whole process of transformation of church and house was completed in time for the celebration of the parish centenary which took place on 13th May, 1962.

In 1966, Canon O'Reilly celebrated his golden jubilee and a few months later, in March, 1967, retired to the Paraclete Fathers, Courance, Dumfries. His health had been failing for a number of years and his retirement was of short duration. After a short illness, he died in Dumfries Royal Infirmary on the 2nd July, 1967, mourned by his fellow-priests and parishioners, who knew him well for his great spirit, holiness of life and wonderful sense of humour.

The Solemn Requiem Mass was celebrated in St. Brigid's, Kilbirnie, on Tuesday, 4th July, by Bishop McGee, from which he was interred in the local cemetery of his beloved Kilbirnie. May he rest in peace.

The Right Reverend Mgr. Peter Canon Morrison, O.B.E.

23rd July, 1967

The Right Reverend Monsignor Peter Canon Morrison, O.B.E., parish priest of Sacred Heart, Bridgeton, Glasgow, died on 23rd July, 1967, and with his death there came to an end a distinguished career in Church and educational circles in Scotland. He was born in Glasgow, in the parish of St. Joseph, Cowcaddens, on 2nd October, 1894, and attended St. Joseph's Primary School before proceeding to St. Aloysius' College and then to St. Mary's College, Blairs, for his classical studies. From Blairs he went to the Royal Scots College, Valladolid, Spain, to study philosophy and theology, and was ordained priest in 1922. On his return to Scotland he was appointed curate at St. Mirin's, Paisley, and laboured in that old parish for nine years. He saw the beginning of the new church there, which is now the Cathedral of the Diocese of Paisley. Here, too, he displayed that great interest in the welfare of the young which was later to distinguish his career. In 1931, he was appointed to a dual charge—Chaplain to H.M. Prison, Barlinnie, and Chaplain to St. Joseph's Home, Garngad. This was no easy task, but Father Morrison accepted it with zeal, spending twelve very fruitful years caring for the aged in St. Joseph's Home and encouraging the Little Sisters of the Poor in their charitable ministrations. The prison he visited with great care and devotion, and his wisdom and tact in dealing with so many delicate situations were so recognised by the authorities that they requested that he should be allowed to continue in this work when the time had arrived for his transfer to other pastoral duties. This was readily granted and in the ensuing period as Chairman of the Catholic Discharged Prisoners' Aid Society he spent himself in the welfare of those to whom he had ministered in prison, looking for employment for them, finding them clothes and money to rehabilitate them in society. His experience in dealing with delinquents led to his recognition as an authority on their welfare, and his services were frequently called upon in various public bodies dealing with that delicate work. His studies in this sector of social welfare took him to Geneva and to U.S.A. to assist Governmental enquiries, and he was awarded the O.B.E. for his services.

He was appointed parish priest of St. Cuthbert's, Burnbank, in 1942, and was transferred to St. Luke's, Glasgow, in 1944, where he remained until 1948 when he returned to his beloved parish of origin, St. Joseph's, Cowcaddens. In 1955 he was transferred to Sacred Heart, Bridgeton. He became one of the Catholic representatives on the Education Committee of the Corporation of Glasgow, succeeding Mgr. Black on his appointment to the Bishopric of Paisley, and worked with great acceptance on that body until the year before his death. He became a Canon of the Metropolitan Cathedral Chapter in 1961, and in recognition of his great contribution to Catholic Education he was made a Domestic Prelate in 1966. He was Chairman of the Youth Employment Board, Maryhill, and a member of the Visiting Committee of the Polmont Institution and of Barlinnie Prison.

While it was in the field of education and social welfare that he made perhaps his greatest impact, and his work on the Education Committee took up a great deal of his time, nevertheless his pastoral zeal saw that the duties of his parish were not neglected. He was a model of punctilious care in his vast correspondence and in his care for the fabric of the buildings placed under his administration. Indeed the scheme of the beautiful redecoration of Sacred Heart Church had just begun shortly before his death. Failing health caused him to relinquish his public offices in 1965, and his remaining time was devoted to study and the care of his parish. He died on 23rd July, 1967, and the high regard in which he was held was shown by the great crowd which attended his obsequies. Many prelates and priests were present at the Pontifical Requiem Mass celebrated by Archbishop Scanlan, and many representatives of government, civic and other public bodies were present to show the high regard in which Monsignor Morrison was held. His Grace the Archbishop spoke with deep feeling of the esteem in which he held Monsignor Morrison's qualities and of the debt owed to him by all sections of the community. He was buried in St. Peter's Cemetery, Dalbeth. May he rest in peace.

Rev. Peter Macfarlane — 30th July, 1967

Father Peter Macfarlane was born in Bannockburn in 1906. He entered Blairs in 1920 and later proceeded to Scots College, Rome, where he was ordained in 1931. His first appointment was as curate at St. Peter's, Edinburgh, where he also acted as Secretary to the late Archbishop McDonald. After an interim period at Fauldhouse, he received his first appointment as parish priest to Burntisland. In 1940 he was commissioned in the Army. He served with distinction in India and Burma between 1942 and 1945, receiving a mention in dispatches. In 1946 he was appointed parish priest to Broxburn, where he served until his death on 30th July, 1967. A concelebrated Requiem Mass was offered on Wednesday, 2nd August, the principal concelebrant being His Grace Archbishop Gray. He is buried in Broxburn cemetery.

All who knew Father Peter Macfarlane can say how kind he was. He spent his life doing good. The text, "All things to all men," most aptly describes his ministry. There wasn't anything he wouldn't do for anyone. He was the ideal parish priest. He was a holy man. Interested in his parish, he gave the people of his parish a church in which they could find God and where one could find him saying his prayers hour after hour. The special object of his concern was the hospital and particularly Old Bangour.

He always tried to say the best about a person even at the risk of being accused of blindness to the person's faults and failings. He knew how to give and how to keep a confidence.

When one is speaking or thinking or writing of a priest, because of his unique position, his responsibilities, his dress which makes him a person apart, one is apt to forget he is, like other men, a human being, with the same capacity to love and to enjoy. From the moment of his ordination Father Peter was a priest first, last and all the time. He was also a genuine human being. He loved his fellow man. This he proved time and again to those who were his relatives, to those who were his friends, to those who were his parishioners. His kindnesses ranged from great acts of charity to those in need right down to the so necessary and often forgotten little charities, like making a phone call or sending a brief note to show his concern, to convey his congratulations or to thank for some small favour, or again, like listening with attention and patience to what a person had to say.

He loved life and the joy of living. Many a dreary room was brightened by his presence. Many a dull gathering came to life with his wit and good humour and his unique ability to hold an audience enthralled with a long, complicated and apparently serious story with a quite ridiculous ending.

Without a doubt Father Peter was a very human being and a loyal, devoted and loved priest. His name is cherished in all the parishes he served so well and that is the true measure of a parish priest's success.

We who knew him well are sorry and will miss him. We ask God to grant him the rest he earned.

Rev. Archibald Watt — 19th August, 1967.

Rev. Archibald Watt was born in Glasgow on 29th April, 1900. His early life was lived in his quite numerous family circle in George Street, adjacent to the modern Strathclyde University. His education was commenced in the Primary School for boys and girls conducted by the Franciscans of the Immaculate Conception in Charlotte Street, Glasgow, S.E., where his aunt, Sister Mary Padua, was a well-known teacher. From this school he went on, in 1910, to St. Mungo's Academy, Parson Street, and at the age of thirteen, animated with a strong desire to be a priest, he was sent by the Archbishop of Glasgow, the Most Rev. John A. Maguire, to St. Mary's College, Blairs, Aberdeen, to commence his preliminary studies for the Priesthood. Towards the end of his course in Blairs, his studies, like those of so many of his contemporaries, were interrupted by Army Service. He served in the Army for a short time and, when released from active service, he returned to complete in Blairs with high distinction a worthy academic career.

In the September of 1918 he entered the Glasgow Diocesan Seminary, then situated in New Kilpatrick, to begin his six years of the exacting studies in the Sacred Sciences and the many subjects which form the studies and fashion the training of those definitely preparing to enter the Priesthood of Christ. While in St. Peter's College he displayed quite remarkable talents which certainly enabled him to occupy a distinguished place in the eyes of his Superiors and fellow students. The Seminary at that particular period was, after the disruption occasioned by the 1914-1918 war, enduring a measure of stress and strain in the attempt being made to re-establish the normal Seminary routine and to restore the splendid characteristics which were the pleasing features of the pre-war Seminary. In all this the student Archie Watt played a very prominent and helpful part. For a period he was the Senior Student, Decano, and in this unenviable position he acquitted himself with credit and proved to be a most diplomatic liaison officer between the Rev. Professors and the student body who benefited much from his own competent and commanding manner. On 1st May, 1924, he was ordained priest in St. Andrew's Cathedral, Glasgow, by the late Archbishop Mackintosh. As the Archdiocese was then immediately and urgently requiring priests, Father Watt, within a week of his ordination, received his first letter of appointment from Mgr. John Ritchie, V.G., then residing at 160 Renfrew Street, Glasgow. On Friday, 9th May, Father Watt arrived in St. Cuthbert's, Burnbank, to begin forty-three years of valuable service in many fields of the Pastoral Apostolate in the West of Scotland.

After three years in his first parish, he was moved to St. John's, Uddingston, and in two years' time he was appointed to St. Peter's, Partick, where for five years he worked with full energy and priestly zeal in this exceptionally demanding and heavily burdened parish, which then covered the area now included in St. Simon's as well as an area which went to form the new Our Lady of Perpetual Succour parish. Yorkhill Hospital as well as the Western Infirmary were served from St. Peter's. During his time in St. Peter's, he assisted with admirable consideration Canon McNairney and, later on, the Rev. James Clarke, who were well advanced in years and in failing health.

In 1933, he crossed the Clyde to take up an important appointment in St. Mirin's, Paisley, where again he proved himself to be a priest of outstanding ability and merit in adverse circumstances, which in those days of economic strain were unfortunately only too prevalent.

From Paisley, in 1940, well equipped with this extensive experience of priestly work gained in various missions, he went as parish priest to St. Isidore's, Biggar. This parish, covering almost all South Lanarkshire, embraced an area which included Beattock, Wanlockhead, Symington, Tarbrax, Wilsonstown and Forth right up to West Linton. The whole mission had only about 240 Catholics, but during the war, the main Polish Army, many émigré units and countless evacuees from Glasgow were scattered all over this area. Here, during the stringent year up to November, 1941, he gave unfailing attention to this disparate community.

In December, 1941, he was appointed to what was perhaps the most difficult assignment of that period in the history of the Church in the West of Scotland, when he was brought back from the rural Biggar to take charge of St. Stephen's, Dalmuir. St. Stephen's Church and presbytery and all contained in this connotation, such as valuable records and furnishings, were entirely wiped off the scene in the "Blitz" of March, 1941. The flock were scattered and an area of ruin, devastation and misery was all that Father Watt encountered when he arrived there in mid-winter of that year. To rehabilitate what was a highly developed parish unit, carefully built up by the legendary Father Brotherhood and, for a short period, by Father Corr, was in appalling conditions, his stern task. In this he succeeded beyond all expectations, so that when he moved on to St. Thomas', Riddrie, in 1947, St. Stephen's was well on the way to full recovery with plans for the proposed new Church and Presbytery almost finalised for building operations to commence.

For the next three years Father Watt gave unremitting care to the well established parish of St. Thomas'. In 1949, he came to his last charge, that of St. Anne's, Whitevale Street. To this magnificent property he devoted full attention, though now his health was giving indications of deterioration sufficient to restrain his customary routine of parish activity. He was undaunted as ever in the zealous attention to the spiritual and temporal needs of his people which marked his ministry in the numerous parishes which gained by his priestly ministrations. After a long and trying illness, borne with true Christian fortitude, this good priest surrendered his soul to the High Priest, whom he had served with meticulous care for 43 years, on 19th August, 1967.

This brief review of Father Watt's full life would be sadly deficient were not a quick reference made to his invaluable service as a member of the many Boards which are involved in the administrative work of the Archdiocese. Notable indeed was his work as Secretary to the Finance Board of the Archdiocese of Glasgow, especially during the years after the war when this Board was responsible for setting in motion the colossal Church Building programme which has won universal admiration for the Church in Glasgow. Over and above the Church work of administration, Father Watt served with good effect on many public committees. In all the public work of the Archdiocese Father Watt played a part which entailed high responsibility and acute efficiency and was in no small measure instrumental in bringing particularly the Church Building programme to such an unqualified success.

His Grace the Archbishop of Glasgow celebrated the Solemn Requiem Mass for Father Watt in St. Anne's on 23rd August. He delivered a most feeling oration in full keeping with the sad occasion. May he rest in peace. Amen.

Very Rev. Michael Provost McCarthy — 7th October, 1967.

The Very Rev. Michael Provost McCarthy, Provost of the Metropolitan Cathedral Chapter of Glasgow and parish priest of St. Margaret's, Kinning Park, died at the age of 87 on Saturday, 7th October, 1967, after a short illness, in the Bon Secours Hospital, Glasgow. He was the oldest priest actively engaged in pastoral work and also one of the best known priests in the Archdiocese of Glasgow.

The Solemn Requiem Mass was celebrated on Thursday, 12th October, 1967, by His Grace the Archbishop of Glasgow, in St. Margaret's, Kinning Park. The magnificent church was filled to capacity, prelates and priests from every part of the Province of Glasgow were present and in the crowded congregation, in addition to the parishioners of Kinning Park, were many who represented the other parishes where the late Canon had exercised his pastoral ministry.

In the panegyric, of which we give a summary, Archbishop Scanlan outlined the long and distinguished career of Provost McCarthy in the service of the Archdiocese of Glasgow and spoke feelingly of the splendid qualities of mind and character which made his work so fruitful for God's Church.

Michael McCarthy was born at Rosscarberry, Co. Cork, Ireland, on the 16th September, 1880, the feast of St. Ninian, and an appropriate birthday for one who would spend his entire life preaching the Gospel in Scotland. He did his classical studies at University School, Skibbereen, and, inspired by the example of his brother, Father Florence McCarthy, a priest of his native Diocese of Ross, who was on temporary loan to the Archdiocese of Glasgow, he decided to study for the priesthood so as to labour for souls in the West of Scotland. He entered All Hallows College, Dublin, where he studied philosophy and later, from 1905 to 1909, he followed the theology course at St. Peter's College, New Kilpatrick. Owing to the illness of Archbishop Maguire, his reception of Orders was postponed and he received all his Orders, from Tonsure to Priesthood, in the short period from 20th June to 29th June, 1909, at the hands of Bishop MacFarlane, of Dunkeld.

Father McCarthy's first and only curacy was in Our Lady and St. Margaret's, Kinning Park, where he assisted Archbishop Mackintosh, of Chersona, and later Father Patrick Gallacher. This curacy lasted until 1926, when he was appointed priest-in-charge of St. Mary's, Larkhall. He was transferred to St. Joseph's, Tollcross, in 1929, and remained there until 1937, when he was appointed to St. Teresa's, Possilpark. In 1948, he returned to Our Lady and St. Margaret's, Kinning Park, as parish priest in succession to Provost James P. Kelly. He became a Canon in 1948 and, in 1965, he succeeded Provost Kelly as Provost of the Metropolitan Cathedral Chapter.

The over-riding principle in all his pastoral activity was the spiritual welfare of his people. He was careful and punctual in the performance of all his parochial duties. Right up to the end he would say a public Mass each Sunday and the well-prepared Sunday sermon, full of wise guidance in Catholic belief and practice, was rigorously regarded by him as an essential part of that pastoral care which he owed to his people. In every parish where he served he made it his business to know, as far as possible, all his parishioners, their problems and their aspirations. He visited them methodically in their homes to encourage them in the life of grace and this aspect of parochial work he continued to the end, though for a year or two it had to be curtailed because of a malady which impaired his eyesight. His interest in his parishioners was such that when he happened to meet former parishioners, many years after leaving a parish, he could still ask by name for all the members of a family and recall the employment and circumstances of each. He loved all the parishes where he worked, but Kinning Park and its beautiful church of Our Lady and St. Margaret held an altogether special place in his affections and, in the latter part of his life, it was indeed a labour of love for him to arrange for the consecration of St. Margaret's Church on 10th June, 1949, and to carry out a complete restoration and redecoration of the church during 1957. He was particularly proud of the stained glass window erected in the church in 1957 in memory of his first parish priest, Archbishop Mackintosh of Chersona.

His interest extended beyond the bounds of his parish. He assisted the late archbishop in the provision of the new Central Administrative Offices of the Archdiocese and in financing the erection of new churches in the less opulent areas of the archdiocese; it was his intervention that made possible such projects as the building of the church of SS. Peter and Paul at Arrochar and the superb restoration of the medieval church of St. Mahew at Kirkton of Kilmahew, near Cardross. He became a member of the Finance Board of the Archdiocese in 1938, and remained an active member of that board until his death, playing a notable part in the enormous post-war church extension programme.

For the past forty years he has taken a prominent part, as chairman or member, of the Boards of Governors of St. Charles' Hospital, Carstairs, and the various Approved Schools of St. John's, Springboig, St. Mary's, Kenmure, St. Ninian's, Gartmore, and St. Andrew's, Shandon. His wise business sense and his shrewd assessment of character were deeply appreciated in all this work by the Scottish Education Department, whose officials found in him a wise and prudent counsellor. He was a priest of the old school, grateful for the years and the health that God had given him, with a great zest for life and for the active pastoral work of the ministry.

The foundation of all his great work for the Church was to be found in his simple piety, his devotion to his daily Mass and his love for Our Lady, together with a deep spirit of loyalty and obedience to his superiors. He found consolation in the last hours of his life in his favourite devotion of the Holy Rosary, which he recited with fervour as death approached. It seemed fitting that the Blessed Mother of God should welcome him into eternity on her feast day of the Holy Rosary. May he rest in peace.

Rev. Joseph Campbell — 9th October, 1967

On Monday, 9th October, 1967, the Rev. Joseph Campbell died at the Presbytery at Glenfinnan. He was born on the Island of Barra on the 17th March, 1904, and he began his studies for the priesthood in Blairs College in 1917. From Blairs, he went to St. Peter's College, Bearsden, in 1923, and having finished his course of theology there he was ordained for the Diocese of Argyll and the Isles, on the Feast of SS. Peter and Paul, 1929, in St. Andrew's Cathedral, Glasgow, by the late Archbishop Donald Mackintosh.

He gained experience of parochial work as a curate in various parishes, notably at Rothesay, Bathgate and Perth, and his first appointment, as a parish priest in his own diocese, was to Eigg and the Small Isles, in 1935, and in that parish he remained for six years.

In 1941 he was transferred to Benbecula. The R.A.F. were stationed there at that time and Father Campbell was appointed Officiating Chaplain: his simple sincerity and friendliness made him popular with all ranks. When the war was over, he built the hall in the church grounds which has proved a great boon to the parishioners ever since. In 1951 he was appointed to Moidart and eleven years later, in 1962, he came to Glenfinnan.

Like most priests of his native diocese, Father Campbell's lot was to minister to small and scattered congregations, but however remote, he never neglected to visit his people. Sometimes he had to brave the elements in inclement weather and make the journey between islands in an open boat: time and again, in districts, where roads were unknown, he had to walk across the hills to say Mass for isolated communities. Such exposure and hardship in tending his flock, he took for granted: it was all part of his life, accepted without murmur or complaint.

Father Campbell was not called upon to build churches or to play a prominent role in public life, but he was ever a priest who fulfilled his duties faithfully and earned the veneration and esteem of those placed under his charge: even the smallest task was carried out conscientiously and with care. The church at Genuig, he re-roofed and renovated. At Glenfinnan he was instrumental in forming The Glenfinnan Association, whose members are descendants of eighteenth-century emigrants to Canada, who concern themselves with the maintenance and embellishment of the Glenfinnan church.

By way of recreation, he took great interest in the folklore of the Gaelic West Highlands and made a small collection of unpublished material.

For two years prior to his death, he was in indifferent health and on several occasions he had to receive treatment in hospital. The end came unexpectedly on Monday, 9th October, 1967. The neighbouring priests were summoned and, shortly after receiving the Last Sacraments, Father Campbell expired.

The Requiem Mass was celebrated in Glenfinnan, on Thursday, 12th October, 1967. His Lordship Bishop McGill celebrated the Mass, assisted by Father Ian Gillies and Father John Morrison. The bishop preached the panegyric to a congregation, which represented the various parishes where Father Campbell had ministered. From all of them came parishioners to pay their respects to one whom they had learned to love and esteem. The burial took place in Morar, where His Lordship the Bishop presided at the graveside. Fois shiorruidh thoir dha, a Thighearna, agus solus nach dibir dearrsadh air.

5th November, 1967.

On 5th November, 1967, died the oldest and one of the best beloved priests of the Archdiocese of Glasgow, the Right Rev. Mgr. James P. Kelly, D.D., Provost Emeritus of the Chapter.

He was born in Paisley on 20th February, 1879, and entered Blairs College on 4th September, 1893. He left Blairs in 1898 and after a year in the Sulpician College at Issy, France, he went to the Scots College, Rome. Here he had a distinguished scholastic career and obtained the Doctorate of Theology in the Gregorian University. He was ordained by Cardinal Respighi in the Lateran Basilica on Holy Saturday, 11th April, 1903.

On his return to Glasgow he was appointed curate at St. Patrick's, Anderston, where he remained for fourteen years. In those days St. Patrick's was one of the largest parishes in the Archdiocese and Dr. Kelly was tireless in his devotion to the people, visitation, administering to the sick, confessions, preaching and the other duties of a zealous priest in a busy city parish.

He was appointed to his first charge in 1917 when he was sent to St. Mary's, Longriggind. There he began to show his genius for the building and reconstruction of churches and halls. The chapel school was replaced by a semi-permanent church and a substantial hall was added to the parochial amenities. In 1924 he was sent to take charge of the newly opened parish of St. Patrick, Greenock. In 1925 he had a temporary church and hall ready for the needs of the new parish. Ground was also secured for a permanent church and presbytery, but before he got time to embark on the new project he was called upon to face his most difficult task.

In 1931 the Society of Jesus decided to release their priests from many of their parishes for work in the Foreign Missions. St. Joseph's, North Woodside Road, was one of the parishes affected by that policy. Archbishop Mackintosh decided to send Dr. Kelly to the work of succeeding the Jesuit Fathers in St. Joseph's. He had been a fellow student with him in the Scots College, Rome, and he judged that he would be the right man for this most delicate assignment. The Jesuits had been in charge of St. Joseph's for many generations and some of the parishioners did not take kindly to the proposed change. There was suspicion, resentment and even some hostility. However, Archbishop Mackintosh's choice was soon justified. Dr Kelly by his kindness, tact and above all by his gentle manner in a short time won the hearts of the people, and although it is now nearly a quarter of a century since he left St. Joseph's, he is still remembered with genuine affection by the older people of that parish. During his twelve years in St. Joseph's—years of depression and war—the work of building and reconstruction went on. He enriched and enlarged the church and built the magnificent hall.

In 1943 he was sent to Our Lady and St. Margaret's, Kinning Park, to succeed Dr. Laydon. The good people of that parish benefited by his zeal and devotion for six years until 1949 when Archbishop Campbell sent him to St. Mary's, Pollokshaws, after the retirement of Monsignor Lawton.

His appointment to St. Mary's, Pollokshaws, might have seemed to some in the nature of a reward for work well done, but for him it was simply a new charge in the great work for Our Lord. Systematic visitation of the parish is not possible for most priests in their 70th year, but it was undertaken by Canon Kelly with the same zeal as if it had been his first appointment. This went on for many years until he was no longer able for anything more than visits to the sick and the aged, which he kept up until his retirement in 1964. While he was in Pollokshaws, he built the hall and had the happiness of seeing the church consecrated. It was while in Pollokshaws he celebrated his golden and diamond jubilees. On the latter occasion the late Archbishop Campbell and many of his fellow priests joined with the parishioners in paying tribute to a truly great priest. The occasion was marked by the Holy Father bestowing on him the honour of Domestic Prelate, the crowning tribute to a life of unstinting apostolic work. However, he was beginning to feel that he had not the health and energy to carry out the duties of a parish priest, and he offered his resignation to Archbishop Scanlan in 1964. He retired to Saltcoats, where for the remaining years of his life he was looked after by his devoted housekeeper. He died peacefully on 5th November, and was buried from St. Mary's, Pollokshaws, on 8th November. At the Pontifical Requiem Mass Archbishop Scanlan paid a glowing tribute to this great priest, who during his long priestly life had held many onerous positions in the services of the Archdiocese. He had been a member of many committees. For many years he had been a Religious Inspector of Schools, and also a member of the Board of Managers of St. Charles' Institution, Carstairs. He was a member of the Finance Board, having been Secretary and finally Vice-President during the immediate post-war years when there was a vast church building programme in the Archdiocese. He had spent many toilsome hours and days on the Boundary Commission that prepared the way for the canonical erection of parishes in the Province. He had also been of immense help to the Archbishop as a judge on the Ecclesiastical Tribunal. Since 1945 until his retirement he had been an active member of the Cathedral Chapter. He had been Canon Theologian and then Provost of that illustrious body.

However, these were not the things that endeared him to the people in the various parishes in which he laboured. It was his kindness, gentleness and understanding, his charity and devotion to the sick that has made him remembered with love and affection by so many. His way of life portrayed the order of his mind. At any time of the day it was possible to say where he might be found. His meditation before Mass, his visits to the Blessed Sacrament, his Stations of the Cross, his Office at the appropriate time, his Rosary—all these had their allocated time. His kindness and willingness to hear the opinions of his fellow priests made for easy and happy living in the chapel house. When he was not preaching by word he was doing so by example, and long after his words have been forgotten the manner of his very priestly life will be an inspiration to all, priests and people, who had the good fortune to know him. May he rest in peace.

Rev. John McNair — 21st November, 1967.

Rev. John McNair was born in Glasgow on the 20th March, 1901, and attended St. Aloysius' College before going to St. Mary's College, Blairs, in 1917, to begin the course of studies that would eventually lead him to the priesthood. His training in philosophy and theology was received at St. Peter's College, New Kilpatrick, between 1920 and 1926. On the 29th May, 1926, he received the priesthood at the hands of the Most Rev. Donald Mackintosh, Archbishop of Glasgow, in St. Andrew's Cathedral.

Father McNair's first appointment took him to Lanarkshire, where for three years (1926-1928) he was a curate at St. Joseph's, Blantyre, and in that parish, his genial personality and friendly disposition endeared him to all and helped to assuage for many parishioners the mental distress caused by the appalling industrial depression which fell so heavily on the working classes of Lanarkshire in those unhappy days.

The next nine years (1929-1937) were spent in St. Mirin's Parish, Paisley, where Father McNair was a prominent and active member of that team of priests, working under the guidance of the celebrated Father Justin White, which made St. Mirin's Parish, Paisley, one of the most vital Catholic communities in the old Archdiocese of Glasgow.

The next appointment (1938-1940) was to St. Joseph's, North Woodside Road, a very busy city parish with a Catholic population of about nine thousand souls, where he served as senior curate under the late Provost James P. Kelly. The difficulties of running a large and congested parish were soon enormously increased by the outbreak of the Second World War. Father McNair had never been very robust but, at St. Joseph's, there began the serious deterioration in his health which was to become progressively worse. Father McNair suffered in silence and even his fellow priests in the parochial house did not suspect that his invariably cheery conversation at breakfast very often followed a night of wakefulness and pain: this they only discovered afterwards.

When it did become obvious that Father McNair was a sick man, he was transferred to the less strenuous parish of St. Augustine's, Coatbridge, but after a short time there in 1941, he was forced to spend the greater part of two years on sick leave. He recovered sufficiently to take up light duties and, in 1944, he was appointed chaplain at the Good Shepherd Convent in Dalbeth, where he remained until 1948. In 1949 he went as chaplain to the Sisters of Charity at Kingussie and, apart from three years (1952-1954) spent at St. Vincent's Hospital, Pinner, Middlesex, he remained there until 1959, when he was appointed chaplain to the Sisters of St. Joseph of Newark in their convalescent home at Rothesay.

During these last eight years at Rothesay, Father McNair enjoyed nothing more than meeting the visiting priests and laity who brought him news of the Catholic life of Glasgow and the West of Scotland, which remained the absorbing interest of his life.

For several months past his health caused deep concern and, despite the devoted attention of the Sisters of St. Joseph, it grew steadily worse until, quietly amid the prayers of the Sisters and some priest friends, he died on the morning of Tuesday, 21st November, 1967.

The Solemn Requiem Mass was celebrated in St. Andrew's Church, Rothesay, on Friday, 24th November, 1967, and Father McNair was buried there in the town cemetery. May he rest in peace.

Rev. Adrian J. Kelly — 22nd November, 1967

The Rev. Adrian J. Kelly was born in Dublin on the 16th August, 1899. He began his studies for the priesthood at Mount Melleray Seminary in 1920 and proceeded to All Hallows College, Dublin, in 1922. On the 20th June, 1926, he was raised to the priesthood, at All Hallows College Church, by the Right Rev. James Naughton, Bishop of Killala.

Father Kelly came to Scotland in that year and was appointed curate at St. Joseph's, Dundee, under Canon James McDonald. His health was never robust and when the Society of the Sacred Heart opened their new convent school at Kilgraston in 1930, Father Kelly became their first resident chaplain, a post he was to hold for twelve years until 1942, when he was appointed to St. Margaret's, Montrose. After some months, ill health forced him to relinquish that charge and, following a period of convalescence, he returned to parochial work in the Dunkeld Diocese, at St. John's, Perth, at the Holy Family, Dunblane, and at St. Serf's, Highvalleyfield. He had been parish priest of St. Serf's, Highvalleyfield, for only a few months when, in 1962, he retired finally from pastoral work in the diocese. In recent years he acted as chaplain at St. Joseph's Nursing Home, Virginia, Co. Cavan, and it was there that he died on Wednesday, 22nd November, 1967.

News of Father Kelly's death caused widespread sorrow in the Diocese of Dunkeld where he had served for thirty-two years. His Lordship Bishop Hart celebrated the Solemn Requiem Mass in the parish church at Virginia, Co. Cavan, and officiated at the interment, which took place at Lurgan. Many of the local clergy assisted at the Requiem Mass and, among Father Kelly's relatives who were present in the congregation, was his nephew Father Vincent Kelly. Father Peter James McKearney, Administrator of St. Andrew's Cathedral, Dundee, accompanied Bishop Hart to represent the clergy of Dunkeld Diocese at these obsequies for an esteemed colleague. May he rest in peace.

Rev. Patrick Carden — 24th November, 1967

Father Patrick Carden's illness was brief; his death sudden and unexpected. He died on Friday, 24th November, 1967, and his death came as a great shock to his relatives, his parishioners and his brother priests. The news also came as a great shock to His Grace Archbishop Gray, who was in Rome attending important meetings of the Liturgical Commission.

Father Carden was born on 22nd April, 1905, in the village of Pumpherston, which is in the parish of East Calder. He thanked God often and to the end, for his Catholic home life spent in his native parish. As Monsignor Monaghan said in his panegyric: "Here, he had what can only be described as the privilege of growing up under a devoted and far-seeing parish priest, Father Tom Monaghan—whose name is still revered. Vatican Council II had not been thought of, but already it was a parish which showed its responsibilities to others by the number of priests and teachers it produced."

From the Primary School, Patrick Carden attended Holy Cross Academy. Then he went to Blairs and later to the Scots College, Rome, where he was ordained on 28th February, 1931. He returned to Scotland in the summer of that year.

He was curate at Methil from August, 1931; Rosewell from October, 1932; and Holy Cross, Edinburgh, from February, 1933.

He became parish priest of Duns, 21st December, 1934. From Duns he was appointed to St. Margaret's, Loanhead, on 4th November, 1938. At his death he had completed almost thirty years in Loanhead. No wonder the church was crowded at the concelebrated Requiem Mass in St. Margaret's. Nor was this esteem and respect confined to members of his own flock. The presence of the Provost and members of his Council, together with the Ministers of the other churches in Loanhead, was evident eloquence of the universal esteem in which he was held by all in the local community.

On the following day, the interment took place at Mount Vernon, following concelebrated Requiem Mass in St. Mary's Cathedral, in the presence of a large number of clergy and people. In the absence of His Grace the Archbishop, Monsignor Monaghan was principal celebrant. In his panegyric Monsignor Monaghan said: "The one thing that most of us will remember with gratitude about Father Patrick Carden was his complete and utter dedication to his life as a priest. The Church, church affairs, his parish and his parishioners—these were his great and constant concern. Again, when a few years ago, he was appointed Dean of St. Matthew's Deanery, this responsibility he took seriously. In his loyalty to the Church, to his bishop and to his fellow-priests he was most anxious that they together should work for the implementation of the decrees of the Vatican Council. Those of us who were privileged to be representatives at the recent Diocesan Council of Priests, will long remember the benign but effective role he played in it as a Moderator.

"One of the much-used words in this post Vatican Council era is the expressive word 'Commitment' . . . Father Carden was one who long ago on his Ordination Day had committed himself and never looked back. In this, he was an example to us all, priests and laymen alike." May he rest in peace.

Rev. Daniel Harty — 28th November, 1967.

The Rev. Daniel Harty was born at Causeway, Co. Kerry, Ireland, on the 11th March, 1892. He began his studies for the priesthood at St. Brendan's Seminary, Killarney, in September, 1907, and three years later, in September, 1910, he entered St. John's College, Waterford, where he followed the course of philosophy. In September, 1913, he came to St. Peter's College, New Kilpatrick, where he completed his theological studies and he was ordained to the priesthood in St. Andrew's Cathedral, Glasgow, by Archbishop John A. Maguire on 2nd June, 1917.

Father Harty's first appointment was to the double parish of St. Paul's, Shettleston, and St. Mark's, Carntyne, still, in those days a semi-rural district, not yet swallowed up in the expansion of the city of Glasgow. Here, under the well-known Father Andrew O'Brien, he served for three years until 1920, when he was appointed as assistant to Father Thomas Gourlay in the chaplaincy for the West Thorn Reformatory and for the Convent of the Good Shepherd at Dalbeth. In 1923, he received a new appointment to St. Anne's, Crownpoint Road, where he was to spend eleven years, until he received his first independent charge, in 1934, at St. John's, Blackwood, in Lanarkshire. For five years he served this sparsely populated but extensive mission and, in 1939, he was transferred to the larger and more exacting mission of St. Patrick's, Shotts. Ten years later, in 1949, he succeeded Monsignor Alexander Hamilton at St. Patrick's, Shieldmuir. There was a marked slowing-up in the pace of Father Harty's activity during these seven years (1949-1956) at Shieldmuir. Advancing age and increasing infirmity were making inroads on his stamina. In 1956, with great regret, he found it necessary to withdraw from active pastoral work and, for the past decade, he has been living in retirement.

Father Harty shunned the limelight, but the parishioners of those parishes in which he ministered remember him with affection as a quiet and kindly pastor of souls, and the priests who shared in his work remember him as a brother priest, companionable, hospitable, helpful.

Father Harty died at St. Patrick's Hospital, Belmont Park, Waterford, on Tuesday, 28th November, 1967, and was buried at Ballyhaigue, Co. Kerry, on Friday, 1st December, 1967. On that same morning, while his obsequies were being carried out in his native land, Solemn Requiem Mass was offered in St. Patrick's Church, Shieldmuir, so that priests and people in the West of Scotland could join corporately in the prayers for the soul of one whose whole active life had been spent in God's service in their midst. May he rest in peace.

APPENDIX I

ECCLESIASTICAL LAWS AND OBSERVANCES.

1. EASTER DUTIES.

The Faithful of Scotland are authorised to satisfy the obligation of the Paschal Communion on any day from Ash Wednesday to Trinity Sunday. (S.C.C.: 11th Oct., 1946.)

2. FAST AND ABSTINENCE DAYS.

By the Papal constitution "Paenitemini," binding from Ash Wednesday, 23rd February, 1966, the ecclesiastical law on fasting and abstinence was completely re-stated.

All the faithful are bound by the divine law of penance.

Lent still has its penitential character. The obligatory days of penance are all Fridays and Ash Wednesday. Their substantial observance is a matter of grave obligation.

Abstinence binds on all Fridays which are not holidays of obligation.

Ash Wednesday and Good Friday are days of fasting and abstinence.

Meat is prohibited by the abstinence law, but not eggs, milk foods and condiments from the fat of animals.

On a fast day only one full meal may be taken, but some food is allowed morning and evening in the quantity and quality determined by approved local custom.

The law of abstinence binds all who have completed their fourteenth year; the law of fasting binds all who have completed their twenty-first year and not yet entered their sixtieth year. Pastors and parents should see that those who are under age are trained in a true sense of penance.

Episcopal Conferences may, for a just cause, transfer a day of penance, taking account of the period of Lent. They may substitute other forms of penance, especially works of charity and exercises of piety, for fast and abstinence. Decisions of Episcopal Conferences in the matter should be reported to the Holy See.

A Bishop can dispense from these laws by the power he has from the conciliar decree on the Pastoral Duty of Bishops. A parish priest, for a just cause and within the regulations of Ordinaries, can dispense from fast and abstinence or commute the obligation into another pious work for individuals or families. A superior of a clerical religious society or institute can do likewise for his subjects.

Bishops and pastors should diligently promote more frequent use of the sacrament of penance and also extraordinary works of penance for expiation or impetration, especially during Lent. The faithful are urged to fill their minds with the Christian penitential outlook so that they may be more ready to practise works of penance and charity.

3. NEW REGULATIONS ABOUT THE EUCHARISTIC FAST.

The law of eucharistic fast was changed by the Apostolic Constitution "Christus Dominus," 6th January, 1953, and further modified by the Motu Proprio "Sacram Communionem," 19th March, 1957.

On 21st November, 1964, a new law was made: "Having considered the difficulties of many regions about the eucharistic fast, the Supreme Pontiff, graciously acceding to the request of bishops, grants that the fast from solid food for priests and faithful shall be reduced to one hour before the reception of Holy Communion. This concession refers also to the moderate use of alcoholic liquids."

From the Motu Proprio of 1957, the sick, even though not confined to bed, may take non-alcoholic liquids or genuine medicine, liquid or solid, at any time before celebrating Mass or receiving Holy Communion.

4. MARRIAGES.

Before a marriage is celebrated, it must be certain that nothing stands in the way of its valid and licit celebration. (Code of Canon Law, Canon 1019, par. 1.)

The parish priest whose right it is to assist at the marriage must, at a suitable time beforehand, carefully investigate whether there is any obstacle to the celebration of the marriage. (Canon 1020, par. 1.)

The rules to be followed by the parish priest in making this investigation, given in an instruction of the Sacred Congregation of the Sacraments, 29th June, 1941, and modified for Scotland by a rescript of the same Congregation, 24th November, 1947, must be carefully observed in every case.

Celebration of Marriage with Mass. The marriage is celebrated after the homily which follows the gospel. This homily is obligatory. As a homily the address on pp. 19-21 of Messrs. Gill's pamphlet may be read. The nuptial blessing is always to be given, even in the closed seasons, and even if either or both spouses has received it in a previous marriage. The Nuptial Mass is to be said in English, using the Burns Oates altar missal, but according to circumstances, the nuptial blessing may be read in Latin.

Celebration of Marriage of Catholics without Mass. The order for this is now: A brief admonition or explanation, epistle, hymn if desired, gospel, homily (for which the address mentioned above may be used), prayer of the faithful, if desired, celebration of marriage, nuptial blessing.

APPENDIX II

INDULGENCES

The Papal Constitution "Indulgentiarum Doctrina," in force since 30th April, 1967, restates the Church's teaching on indulgences. The first four sections of the document affirm the Church's power to grant indulgences and explain indulgences doctrinally and historically.

A summary is appended of the fifth section in which the law on indulgences is completely revised.

An indulgence is a remission in the sight of God of temporal punishment due to sins already forgiven as far as their guilt is concerned. An indulgence is gained on certain conditions by the properly disposed Christian with the help of the Church which, as minister of the redemption, authoritatively dispenses and applies the treasury of the satisfactions of Christ and the saints.

Indulgences are plenary or partial; both can be applied to the dead. Henceforth partial indulgences will be described as such without any reference to terms of days or years. The Christian, at least sorry for his sins, who does some work to which a partial indulgence is attached, gains, with the help of the Church, a remission of temporal punishment equal to that which he had already merited by his good action.

A plenary indulgence may be obtained only once each day, apart from the case of a person at the moment of death who had already gained a plenary indulgence that day; partial indulgences may be obtained several times a day unless otherwise stated.

To gain a plenary indulgence the "work" to which the indulgence is attached must be performed; in addition, three conditions, sacramental confession, reception of Holy Communion and prayer for the Pope's intention must be fulfilled. The gainer must also be free from all attachment to sin, even venial sin. If this disposition is lacking or any of the conditions is not fulfilled a partial indulgence only will be obtained.

The conditions may be fulfilled days before or after the "work" is performed, but it is fitting that Communion should be received and the prayer for the Pope's intention said on the day of the "work." Several plenary indulgences may be gained after one sacramental confession but reception of Holy Communion and prayer for the Pope's intention must be repeated for each individual indulgence. One Our Father and one Hail Mary always suffice for prayer for the Pope's intention; other prayers, dictated by the recipient's piety and devotion to the Holy Father, may be substituted.

As in canon 935, confessors may commute the "work" required for those legitimately prevented from its fulfilment. Local Ordinaries may permit their subjects to gain plenary indulgences without actual confession and Communion in places where that is difficult, provided they are heartily sorry for their sins and intend to receive those sacraments as soon as possible.

The terms "local" and "real" indulgences are abolished to make it clear that indulgences attach to works of the faithful, even though these works may be connected with a place or object of piety. Members of pious associations may gain indulgences attached to membership, even if they do not wear the insignia of membership.

Lists of indulgences are to be revised as soon as possible. Only the principal prayers and works of charity, piety and penance will be indulgenced.

A plenary indulgence for the dead may be obtained in all churches, public oratories and semi-public oratories, by those entitled to use them, on 2nd November. In parish churches a plenary indulgence may be obtained on two days, the feast of the titular and on 2nd August, the date of the Portiuncula indulgence. These indulgences may all be obtained on the exact date or, with the Ordinary's consent, on the Sunday before or after the exact date or on some other date which the Ordinary thinks more fitting. All other indulgences attached to visiting churches are to be revised.

A visit to a church, prescribed as the "work" for gaining an indulgence, is fulfilled by a pious recital there of the Our Father and the Creed.

If an object of piety is blessed by a priest and used by the faithful in a spirit of piety, a partial indulgence is gained. If the pious object (crucifix, cross, rosary beads, scapular, medal) is blessed by the Pope or a bishop, a plenary indulgence may be gained by its pious use on the feast of Saints Peter and Paul, provided that a profession of faith, in any legitimate form, is made.

The apostolic blessing by a priest at the hour of death still brings with it a plenary indulgence. If no priest is available, a Christian at the hour of death may gain the plenary indulgence provided that he is in the proper dispositions and was accustomed to saying some prayers during his life. It is recommended that a cross or crucifix be used in that case.

All privileges in regard to altars at which Mass is said are suppressed; in future a plenary indulgence for the dead can be obtained for every celebration of Mass.

The law as here detailed is in full force, but it does not revoke the law of the Code or of decrees of the Holy See if they are in conformity with these new laws.

LEPROSY CAN BE CURED

Founded in 1895, the St. Francis Leprosy Guild has as its aim to collect alms for the assistance of missionary priests and nuns in their work for victims of leprosy throughout the world.

After the first General Meeting in 1897, a sum of £60 was divided among four leprosy colonies. Since then £306,257 has been sent to assist leprosy patients, regardless of nationality or creed, throughout the world.
