FROM THE RESTORATION OF THE HIERARCHY IN 1878
TO THE PRESENT DAY

The Apostolic Letter Ex supremo of Leo XIII, 4th March 1878, divided Scotland into the Province of St. Andrews and Edinburgh with a Metropolitan See and four Suffragan Sees of Aberdeen, Argyll and the Isles, Dunkeld, and Galloway; and the Archdiocese of Glasgow directly subject to the Holy See. The Apostolic Constitutions Maxime Interest and Dominici gregis of Pius XII, 25th May 1947, erected the Archdiocese of Glasgow into a Province, with a Metropolitan See and two Suffragan Sees of Motherwell and Paisley.

A pamphlet entitled Diocesan Map of Scotland, showing maps of each of the dioceses of Scotland, was published by The Mercat Cross in 1953.

THE PROVINCE OF ST. ANDREWS AND EDINBURGH

The Province of St. Andrews and Edinburgh consists of the Archdiocese of St. Andrews and Edinburgh and the four Suffragan Sees of Aberdeen, Argyll and the Isles, Dunkeld, and Galloway.

*The bishops associated with Kinrimumd, St. Andrews, had assumed ecclesiastical primacy in Scotland from Dunkeld by the beginning of the tenth century. The last of the Celtic bishops died in 1093; the line of the medieval bishops began in 1109 but the Church and the bishopric were not securely established until 1144. The independence of the Scottish Church from the metropolitan claims of the archbishops of York was established by Celestine III with the Bull Cum universi, 13th March 1192. St. Andrews was erected a Metropolitan See by Sixtus IV, 14th August 1472. The See was vacant from the execution at Stirling on 6th April 1571 of John Hamilton (1547-1571) until the restoration of the hierarchy in 1878.*

PERSONAL PRELATURE OF THE HOLY CROSS AND OPUS DEI

Personal Prelatures are juridical structures of a secular character governed by a Prelate and erected by the Holy See to carry out specific pastoral or missionary activities. The general norms on personal Prelatures are contained in the Code of Canon Law—canons 294 to 297. Each has its own statutes approved by the Holy See. Opus Dei is a personal Prelature, international in its scope, which aims to spread throughout all sectors of society a deep awareness of the universal call to sanctity and apostolate in the fulfilment of one's ordinary profession or job. It is formed by a Prelate with his own clergy and by lay people, men and women, who in virtue of a divine vocation freely join the Prelature.

OBITUARIES 1986

Very Reverend Alexander D. Provost Sullivan—7th January, 1986

Provost Alexander Sullivan died after heart failure at midday on Tuesday, January 7th 1986 and was buried at Buckie Cemetery on Friday, January 10th, after Pontifical Requiem Mass at St. Mary's, Inverness at which the Bishop preached, 20 priests (including the Abbots of Pluscarden and Fort Augustus) concelebrated, and Canon Bernard MacDonald, St. Ninian's, Inverness, gave the panegyric which follows.

There was a large congregation in a Church which the Canon had served for 27 years.

The previous evening Mass concelebrated at Nairn by Fr. J. A. MacMillan, Canon Stone and Canon B. MacDonald, in front of a packed congregation.

Two maiden sisters attended the funeral along with a nephew, Captain Sandy Sullivan and a niece.

As a priest friend I would like to take this opportunity to pay tribute to Canon Sullivan. I am not quite sure if he would entirely approve of a panegyric—as he disliked fuss—but I will take the risk.

Canon Paddy, as the clergy affectionately called him, was born at Buckie on 15th August, the Feast of the Assumption of Our Lady, 1904. He studied for the priesthood at Blairs College, Aberdeen, and the Scots College, Valladolid, Spain. After completing his studies there he was ordained to the priesthood in the Cathedral of Valladolid by the Archbishop of Valladolid—the date the 25th May 1929. At the same ceremony was ordained Canon Lewis McWilliam happily with us today and now our senior active priest—along with two future Bishops—Bishop Hart, Bishop Emeritus of Dunkeld, and the late Bishop McGee of Galloway. Although the Canon did not speak a great deal about those 7 years in Spain it was obvious that the influence of the College left a deep impression on his character. Many a return visit he made to Spain and many a welcome and helping hand he gave to Spanish visitors coming to the Highlands of Scotland.

His record of devoted service to this Ancient Diocese of Aberdeen was truly remarkable. For 57 years he served as an active priest—all these years were spent in one Deanery, St. Joseph's Highland Deanery. He began as a curate in St. Mary's, Inverness, and moved as parish priest to Orkney and Shetland. In 1940, at the onset of war, he went to St. Mary's, Nairn, and remained there until 1954. He then came back as parish priest to St. Mary's, Inverness, in 1954 and remained there—often working single-handed—until 1977. He returned then to St. Mary's, Nairn, and remained there until his death. 57 years in 3 parishes. I don't know if there is a Guinness Book of Records for the Clergy, but if there is, surely his name deserves an honourable mention.

He was also Dean of St. Joseph's Highland Deanery from 1964-1981. He was Vicar General of the Diocese for one week in 1963 and he told me quite proudly that he granted two dispensations in that time. Lastly he was Provost of the Cathedral Chapter from 1978 until he died—he did not resign. In his whimsical way he would want me to underline this point—he died in harness, an active Priest.

But these are rather lifeless statistics—what was the outstanding quality in his life? To him it was simple. Unworthy though he was, though we all are, he was a priest who represented Our Lord and shared in Our Lord's Priesthood. As a priest he had real solicitude and care for each and every parishioner. His concern primarily was for their spiritual welfare in the sight of God but he was also concerned with their material well-being. Many a rebuke he gave me if he thought I was at all remiss in visiting his parishioners in hospital; and at times he would come into the hospital personally to make sure the special requirements of his parishioners were met. Amusing incident to me while he was a patient in Raigmore and seriously ill himself—he heard that a woman from Latin America was gravely ill in the Intensive Care Unit—he then told me not to bother visiting her as I would not understand her anyway, but he would go down and administer the Sacraments himself. He was unable to do so really but it showed his mettle as a priest.

He lived a frugal, austere and simple life—humbug and fuss were studiously avoided. His prayer books were black with use—there were no new fancy books or missals lying around unused on his desk. He prayed to God using his old traditional devotional books which he treasured and which were dear to him.

He abhorred the modern malaise of spending money; he was a conserver of money and as someone said recently, conservers are very important people, they are the builders for the future. Parish money to the Canon was sacred, something to be preserved for future generations. He spent little on himself—in fact it was difficult to get him to spend anything on himself but he was extremely lavish in one respect—with his time. He gave his time generously to other people. Countless people came to him with their worries, anxieties, problems. He would spend endless hours listening, counselling, caring. And they came in such numbers because they trusted him. He never broke a confidence—he would never break trust. I never knew him to do so. But he expected and demanded the same trust from others.

So many people enjoyed his friendship. Why was he so popular? I have my own answer. When the Good Lord made Canon Paddy he was hacked out of a rich vein of human nature. He was not part of the common mould. He was quite unique.

He was a very gifted conversationalist even contradicting himself on various occasions, but always maintained that was his privilege. Witty but always ready to prick pomposity and humbug: he was always most enjoyable company.

His hospitality I shall never forget. There was no lavish table—but you always got a welcome. All the years I called I never once heard him say "I am busy"—he gave you a real Highland Welcome. You shared in his frugality and simplicity—his favourite tea and the biscuit tin!

Lastly his two hobbies. Fishing—he seemed to have fishing friends scattered over all the rivers and lochs of the Highlands. There seemed to be endless arguments too about what to use on which river and the size of the catch. Pride of place on his mantelpiece in Inverness was a small stone—the priest! His other love was music. On winter nights he would ask if I would care to hear some Mozart. Even in his 80's he would play a whole movement of a sonata. His fingers were by then frail and arthritic but one could visualise how gifted a pianist he must once have been.

The Canon will be greatly missed by so many people from so many walks in life, but before I end he would want me to say one thing—to ask prayers for the repose of his soul—he who gave so much of himself to God and to you here in Inverness and Nairn would ask me to make this one request—not to forget him in your prayers.

To his sisters, nephew, relations, we extend our deep sympathy and prayers. A special thanks to Dr. Stewart of Nairn for his care and solicitude, to the hospital staff at Raigmore, Nairn Convalescent and Corsee Home for their unremitting attention.

Last but not least to thank all those thousand little acts of kindness that the people of Nairn and Inverness delicately but lovingly bestowed upon the Canon, especially over these last few years of his life.

And to the Canon, in the words of the Liturgy "May Christ the Good Shepherd lead you safely home to be at peace with God the Father. May you be happy with all the Saints in the presence of the eternal King".

Reverend John McGinlay—19th February, 1986

Fr. John McGinlay, Parish Priest of St. Mark's Shettleston, died peacefully on the morning of Wednesday, 19th February. He was 69 years of age.

Although he had known for months that he was dying, he still retained that calmness and serenity which he had displayed throughout the years. During this time of suffering, he was nursed night and day by the housekeepers of St. Mark's. Their attention was outstanding.

Forty-six years ago John McGinlay answered the call of Jesus Christ to proclaim the Good News. Obviously the spirituality of his early life was developed by the example of his parents, brother and three sisters. Their family life set him on the way towards the priesthood.

He began his education at St. Charles' School, Kelvinside. Later he went to St. Aloysius' College, Garnethill, and from there he studied in St. Peter's College, then in Bearsden. Besides being a very well read student, he was also outstanding as a baritone and a humorist. Gilbert and Sullivan must have been delighted at his renderings in the College operettas. Palestrina, Vittoria, Lotti, Perosi and the like, listening to his part in the choir, would have been pleased as well. Those were the days—the days of harmony.

He was ordained priest by Archbishop Donald Mackintosh in St. Andrew's Cathedral, on 29th June 1940. He celebrated his first Mass in St. Aloysius' Church, attended at the altar by the great Fr. d'Andria. His second Mass was in St. Charles', where he had been an altar-boy.

After brief appointments as assistant priest to St. Teresa's, Possilpark, St. Columbkille's, Rutherglen, and St. Joseph's, Tollcross, he moved to the Holy Family and St. Ninian's, Kirkintilloch, where he remained for 22 years. He was much respected and admired by his parishioners during this time for his continuous work in the local hospitals, particularly in Woodilee.

In these parishes, along with the other curates, John McGinlay was "brought up" by the Parish Priest, who was teacher, guide, adviser, organiser and director. The Parish Priest was the elderly father-figure, who must be cosseted by his young curates.

John's first appointment as parish Priest was to St. Bernadette's, Carntyne, where he laboured for 14 years. In 1978 he was moved to Our Lady of the Assumption in Ruchill. It was about this time that the Archdiocese began to suffer from a shortage of priests. In addition, young priests were being asked to work outside the Parishes. The era of the father-figure was at an end. Parish Priests had now to take part in physically demanding work. An older John McGinlay, who did not drive a car, had to walk to Ruchill Hospital to answer night-calls. He was well acquainted with the number of steps which led to the entrance of the Hospital. For him it was indeed a Scala Sancta.

After five years in Ruchill, he was appointed to the parish of St. Mark's, Shettleston. By this time, he was not a well man, but he soldiered on, fulfilling all his obligations. He could be seen meeting the people as he walked round the houses, bringing Communion to the sick; maybe getting a lift now and again in the housekeeper's car.

During all the years of his priesthood, one of John's outstanding virtues was his ability to listen to people. When the distressed seek advice, their problems are not solved in a few moments by the cheery smile, the slap on the back. The dispirited may be silenced, but certainly they are not regenerated. John McGinlay had the patience to listen. Gradually the pain of the distressed would be alleviated by this quiet, calm priest. He spent his last holiday in his beloved Barra—a place of retreat, which could not be more quiet and calm.

His funeral took place on Friday 21st February. Archbishop Winning, who was in South America at this time, sent word that he was offering Mass for John. The Requiem in St. Mark's was concelebrated by Bishop Renfrew, Bishop Mone, Fr. Gerard Hassay S.J. (cousin of Fr. McGinlay) and by many of his fellow priests. The presence of such a number of parishioners, past and present, was a clear sign of their deep love and respect for Fr. John McGinlay.

May he rest in peace.

Very Reverend James Canon O'Hanlon, B.A.—26th February, 1986

Canon James O'Hanlon, Chaplain to St. Joseph's Home, Edinburgh, died in Edinburgh on 26th February, 1986, in the 73rd year of his age and the 49th of his priesthood. At the Funeral Mass in St. Alexander's, Denny, prior to interment in Denny Cemetery the following panegyric was delivered by the Reverend Joseph McMullan, of St. Peter's, Livingston.

James Canon O'Hanlon was born in Denny on 20th November, 1913, the son of John O'Hanlon and Margaret McMullan. In this church of St. Alexander he was baptized, confirmed and made his first Confession and first Holy Communion. So it is fitting that his mortal remains have now been brought by his family to the church in which his life of faith and his relationship with God began and matured.

In his death the Church has lost a great priest. His family has lost a dear brother and uncle. This parish has lost a good friend. To his sisters, Helen and Mary, the family and his many friends I offer my sincere sympathy. I share their sense of sorrow and loss, but also, I share their faith and hope that Almighty God will raise him up and reward his faith in a new and better life. We can all look back and have many happy memories and, thank God, we have faith to look forward to the day when we can be together again.

Here in Denny, Canon O'Hanlon received his primary education, then he went to St. Mungo's in Glasgow before going to Blairs College in 1926 in response to God's call to the priesthood. His seminary training was completed in St. Lô and Coutances in France and he was ordained priest in St. Mary's Cathedral, Edinburgh on 22nd May, 1937.

That he was a priest of God was always a great source of wonder and joy to him and in others he always recognised the dignity the priesthood conferred. I remember the day of my own ordination; it was the most natural thing for Father James, nearly thirty years my senior, to address me as Father, kneel before me and ask for my blessing. The following day he considered himself honoured to assist and guide me when I offered my first Mass in this church.

His sharp intellect and great learning fitted him for an academic career. He was sent to Cambridge where, in 1941 at Christ College, he attained his Bachelor of Arts degree. That same year he was appointed to the staff of Blairs College where he taught French, Latin and Greek. His career as a professor in Blairs was in two phases as in 1945-46 he served for a short time as curate in St. Mary's, Stirling and St. David's, Dalkeith. Then he continued his teaching until 1954. His time at Blairs was not all taken up by intellectual pursuits. Father O'Hanlon was a talented sportsman and excelled at football, cricket and tennis.

On the feast of Christ the King, 1954, Archbishop Gray appointed him the first parish priest of the new parish in the Raploch area of Stirling, dedicated to St. Margaret of Scotland. And so the teacher, who had enjoyed learned books and had been at ease in witty debate and scholarly company, now showed that he was equally at home among the ordinary people of the parish he was to serve for the next thirty years.

It soon became clear that his real knowledge was not merely intellectual. It was what was in his heart that shaped his life, his attitudes, his relationships. He set about developing his new parish with enthusiasm and imagination. He expanded its facilities by building and equipping a new hall. Above all, he built up the faith and the confidence of the people who lived in an area which was full of complex social problems.

As a parish priest he was always approachable, sympathetic and helpful. His enormous compassion always expressed itself in kindness and generosity. When people were in need, time hardly mattered to Father O'Hanlon. People could, and did, come day and night with their problems, troubles and anxieties. He became almost policeman, social worker, doctor, friend and priest rolled into one. Like St. Paul, his heart was big enough to make him "all things to all men". He attained that ideal Our Lord teaches in the Gospel—He served his God in the least of his brothers.

That same heart was, above all, close to Our Lord, Our Lady and the Saints. He loved best the simple traditional devotions to the Blessed Sacrament, the Sacred Heart and the recitation of the Rosary.

When offering Mass and administering the Sacraments, the element of devotion was always present. In summary, he was a priest devoted to God and devoted to the people he was sent to serve.

Indifferent health added to his burdens. But even when ill-health and advancing years made retirement from St. Margaret's necessary in 1984, he still wanted to be useful—he still wanted to exercise his priesthood. So he served as chaplain in Rosewell hospital and then in St. Joseph's Home in Edinburgh.

In August of last year, Archbishop O'Brien honoured him with the title of Canon in recognition of his invaluable service in the priesthood.

It was in the forty-ninth year of that priesthood, on February 26th, that Canon O'Hanlon suddenly collapsed and died while still serving in St. Joseph's Home.

Throughout his life, tradition meant a great deal to him. He had a keen historical sense and he feared trends that severed links with the past. To him the Church without its tradition would become like a man who had lost his memory—and a man who does not know where he has come from is hardly likely to know where he is going.

Father James had his own personal sense of history and identity. People and places, roots and relationships were important to him. He loved to trace the complex and intricate relationships of the family to which he belonged. He had a great memory for the people and places in this town of Denny, which he never quite left.

Now he will be buried in the place and alongside those who in this life he knew so well. May he rest in peace.

Rev. James McGill—12th March, 1986

Fr. James McGill was born in Whifflet during the years of the Great War, on September 23rd, 1915. Signs that James might have a vocation to the priesthood began to manifest themselves at an early age. By the time James had reached fourteen years of age, these same signs proved sufficiently strong that he felt compelled to leave his native Coatbridge for St. Mary's Junior Seminary, Blairs. In 1934, having completed his secondary education, he proceeded to Bearsden in order to begin studies in philosophy and theology. In 1941, the Feast of Saints Peter and Paul, he was ordained to the priesthood in St. Andrew's Cathedral, Glasgow for service in the Archdiocese of Glasgow.

It was fitting, for one who, throughout his life, maintained such a deep devotion to the Mother of God, that "St. Mary" should be the patroness of so many of the churches and institutions to play a part in Fr. McGill's life. He was born and brought up in St. Mary's parish, Whifflet, attended St. Mary's Primary and Secondary schools, St. Mary's College, Blairs and the first four parishes in which he served were each dedicated to the Mother of God and bore the name—"St. Mary's". On looking back over Fr. McGill's life, it was singularly appropriate that this should be the case for if there was one feature which stood out in Fr. McGill's priesthood, it was his devotion to Our Blessed Lady. His great affection for God's own mother was evident to all when on all the great feasts of Our Lady he spoke of Mary as one speaking from the heart, explaining the perhaps complicated truths of the Assumption and the Immaculate Conception in terms and language which could be understood by everyone in the congregation. His love for the Mother of God was so plainly visible that one could not help but be moved by it. It was a filial love which he maintained to the end of his life.

Whilst a student in Blairs and Bearsden, James McGill was able to give full vent to his natural talents in the field of sport. A keen athlete and sportsman from his childhood he could turn his athletic skills to most sports—football, badminton and tennis among others. When the time came for him, as it comes to all, when such highly physical pursuits are to be given over in favour of others of a less strenuous kind, Fr. McGill took great pleasure in a game of golf which, quite understandably, for someone as sportsminded, quickly became a hobby which he passionately enjoyed for as long as he was able to play.

Fr. McGill's first appointment after ordination was to St. Mary's, Abercromby Street where he served for what remained of wartime till 1945 when he was posted to St. Mary's, Maryhill. Whilst in Maryhill one of his duties was that of chaplain to Maryhill Barracks where he was a frequent visitor. His friendship with the men there provided him with a wealth of stories and anecdotes which he took great pleasure in recounting during succeeding years.

His third appointment was to St. Mary's, Larkhall where he remained for only two years. It was in Larkhall that he was to be found at the time of the division of the Archdiocese of Glasgow and as a result spent the rest of his Priesthood serving various parishes in the Diocese of Motherwell. In 1950, he was appointed to St. Mary's Cleland where he remained for the next ten years until 1960 when he was given charge of his first parish—St. Patrick's, Strathaven. One of his first tasks as parish priest was to organise the celebration of the centenary of the parish. His years in Strathaven were happy ones during which he endeared himself to all in the community. It was with sadness then that St. Patrick's parishioners heard in January 1964 that Fr. McGill was being moved to a larger parish—that of St. Peter's in Hamilton. The five years which he spent in Hamilton were years of great changes in the Catholic Church. The Vatican Council had concluded its deliberations and it remained only for the bishops and priests to put the recommendations made by the council into action. It was around this same time that the enthusiasm and vitality which was once so characteristic of the young Fr. McGill was beginning to wane. Problems of health began to assert themselves and Fr. McGill began to experience an increasing inability to cope with the demands of such a large parish. As a result, it was with a mixture of sadness and relief that he found himself being moved to a much smaller parish in September of 1969—the parish of Corpus Christi in the more rural setting of the village of Calderbank.

The thirteen years which he spent in Calderbank were years in which his health began to deteriorate further. Any anxiety and despair this may have caused him was compensated for by the warmth and affection with which the people of Calderbank held their new priest. Though quiet, unassuming and a very private person, the villagers quickly grew fond of this priest for whom they maintain a special place in their hearts.

Shortly after going to Corpus Christi, one of the first tasks awaiting him was to set about implementing the changes in the way Mass was to be celebrated. The new Mass of Paul VI had been promulgated in April 1969 and it fell to Fr. McGill to instruct and prepare the people as to how they were to participate in the Mass. This was a task which he readily assumed as he did the renovation of the sanctuary of the church in conformity with the decrees of the Second Vatican Council. Especially fond of Fr. McGill were the sick of the parish who were always sure of a sympathetic ear should they care to confide in him of their troubles. Fr. McGill himself suffered greatly from arthritis and was no stranger to pain.

Though in many respects a cultured man with a gift for music and knowledge of the arts, Fr. McGill was essentially a simple man and had a great distaste for pompousness and ostentation in any form. He led a simple lifestyle and cared not for wordly trappings. A glance at his old soutane with its frayed cuffs and worn out sleeves bears admirable testimony to this fact. He carried no favourites, treating everyone with equal kindness. In his dealings with all, from youngest to oldest he was courteous, gracious and always the perfect gentleman. No wonder then that it was with deep regret that the people of Calderbank had to bid farewell to their beloved parish priest in the Spring of 1982. On announcing his leaving for another parish long queues were formed outside the sacristy door as they waited to say goodbye. There were more than one reduced to tears as they shook his hand and wished him luck in his new parish of St. Leonard's, East Kilbride.

St. Leonard's was a much larger parish with a more urban outlook. There, even with the assistance of two other priests in the parish, Fr. McGill felt unable to cope with the new demands which were being made of him and so it was with deep reluctance that he felt compelled to offer his resignation and retire from the active ministry.

On retiring he set up house in Bellshill where he was to spend the remaining four years of his life. During his retirement other physical ailments of a quite different and much more serious nature began to assert themselves. He spent two lengthy periods of time in hospital and underwent two critical operations but to no avail. The outcome was by this time apparent and Fr. McGill accepted it as God's will. Though at times in very great pain he was always, as the nursing staff in the hospital would bear out, courteous, uncomplaining and ever thankful for anything they did to alleviate his suffering. On one occasion he was able to concelebrate Mass from his bed along with the hospital chaplain, an experience which gave him immense joy as those who were present on that morning would testify. On Wednesday, 12th March, as priests throughout the world proclaimed the Gospel of the day including the words of St. John "Thus as the Father raises the dead and gives them life, so the Son gives life to anyone he chooses", James McGill finally breathed his last with full confidence in the resurrection won for us by Christ the Lord.

His Requiem Mass took place in Motherwell Cathedral, presided over by Bishop Devine and concelebrated by Bishop Thomson and a remarkable number of priests from throughout the diocese. The interment took place in St. Patrick's, New Stevenston. Our Lady, Queen of Priests, Pray for him.

Very Reverend George Gordon Canon Phillips—14th March, 1986

Canon George Gordon Phillips, retired parish priest of Dufftown died in Abyone on 14th March, 1986. At the Funeral Mass in St. Mary's, Dufftown, on 17th March, prior to interment in Mortlach Cemetery, Dufftown the following panegyric was delivered by Canon Robert McDonald of Elgin.

On Friday March 17th when the news broke that Canon George Gordon Philips had died we were all reminded of the slenderness that separates life from death and the suddenness with which it can be broken, but consoled with the knowledge that on both sides of that division we are surrounded by the love of God.

Canon George had enjoyed good health all his life. One might have fully expected him to have lived much longer in his content retirement in Aboyne, but the Lord called.

Canon died quickly. He did everything quickly. How he would have hated a long stay in hospital or in a home with a lingering illness.

A few years ago he anointed his life-long friend Canon Lamont who turned to him and said; "It's me today and you tomorrow". For Canon George that tomorrow has arrived.

He was born on the 9th December 1904 at Braemar, his family strong in the traditions of the Faith. It was not surprising that his thoughts turned to the priesthood and so he entered Blairs College in 1918.

One of his contemporaries testifies that he was painfully shy as a boy in college, most sensitive—he needed friendship—and to be one of his friends was to be specially fortunate.

In college he seldom raised his voice in speech. He loved music in the liturgy but seldom participated. He was not a games-man, but a good watcher and a just critic.

From Blairs he went to France and spent a year at St. Lô then on to the Grand Séminaire at Coutances. He studied hard and acquired his straightforward and deep understanding of his priesthood which was to influence him all his days—but he was still the sensitive and shy person who left Corriemulzie, Braemar.

He enjoyed the company of his fellow students—always in the background perhaps, but partaking of the happy atmosphere. His laugh was memorable at some witty sally. One classic example after watching an amateur tennis match—he was asked how so-and-so had played—the reply "Weel, nae bad—but he reminded me o' a coo on ice". Only a real country chiel could have made such a comparison.

After ordination he was curate at St. Peter's, Aberdeen, where his uncle Canon Andrew Grant was parish priest. They say that his uncle was hard on him. Probably he didn't wish to show favouritism. The story goes that the Canon gave his yearly budget from the pulpit and said, "Of course, there's the curate. He gets £40 a year, and he's not worth it." Worth it indeed he was, and more.

He served 14 years at Clova. Times were hard. There were no luxuries then like television sets. Often the collection in the plate was half a crown.

He spent most of his priestly life in this area. Eight years at Chapelton in the historic Glenlivet, and then 23 years here in his beloved Dufftown.

He was a character and you loved him for it. You enjoyed his ready wit and clever sayings, his devotion to the sick, his visits to your homes. He loved to follow all the happenings in the parish and diocese. It was heart warming to be greeted with, "Aye, aye . . . Fit like . . . any news"?

One day he was visiting a neighbouring priest who said, "Do you want a dram"? NO he replied "A cup of tea, then", NO. "I'm no use as a social person. I never say when I am coming. I never take anything when I do come and I leave when I want". That was his style.

He loved the liturgy and tried to carry it out to the best of his ability. Many are the stories of his efforts.

He was a typical country parish priest known to all in the town and throughout the countryside, shrewd in his judgement. He had no time for humbug.

His faith was simple and uncomplicated. Methodical in his day to day living, always punctual. He was a man of habit. He would retire at a certain time each evening, rising in the morning for his prayers and Mass. After breakfast he always recited his breviary before opening any of the daily newspapers.

He had an immense devotion to the Mother of God. To be present when, having pushed his hands into the sleeves of his alb and with closed eyes, he expounded his own deep love of his Mother and her love for us, was a long-remembered and deeply moving incident in life.

He brought this lovely picture of the Assumption from Clova which hangs here above the altar. Our Lady of the Assumption the title of the church.

I hope I haven't kept you too long. He would scold me for that.

Our sympathy and prayers go out to his sister, Stella, his nephew Ronnie, and other relatives, His devoted housekeeper, Molly who has served him faithfully for 53 years. How they will miss him.

Canon George, may Holy Mary, the angels and all the saints come to meet you. May Christ the Good Shepherd set you among those he has chosen. May you see your Redeemer face to face and enjoy the vision of God for ever.

Very Rev. Charles Canon Collins—31st March, 1986

Charles Collins was born in Holy Cross parish Glasgow on the 12th June 1912. His mother was from the well known Catholic family, the Shaws of Blairs and originally Glenlivet, so that it was not surprising that when he went to Blairs in August 1926, it was as a student for Aberdeen diocese. In 1931 he was sent to the Scots College in Rome and it was in Rome that he was ordained priest by Archbishop Traglia on the 18th December 1937.

On his return to Scotland in the summer of 1938, he was appointed curate to St. Peter's, Aberdeen under the famous and well loved Canon Andrew Grant. In many ways they were kindred spirits and the eight years there, in spite of the war and the bombings, were happy and fruitful. The little chapel of ease, St. Theresa, was particularly his own and there he became famous for his weekly instruction to the children about a character called Pinky whose adventures and misadventures always with moral behind them, became compulsive listening. It was always hoped that he would reproduce these narratives in book form but unfortunately this never materialised. Here too he was involved in youth work particularly with the dramatic side and the St. Peter's Players were known throughout the city. It was in the care of the sick and elderly, however that he followed in the footsteps of his parish priest. On his rounds with Holy Communion, many a grate was raked out, a fire lit, and a cup of tea made, before he left a house. He was to the end of his days a pastoral priest.

In October 1946 he received his first charge of Our Lady and St. Joseph, Kirkwall. In those days the priest in Orkney spent the summer months in Shetland tending to the spiritual needs of the herring fishermen and fisher girls who came chiefly from Brittany and Ireland. The living conditions of the girls in particular were pretty primitive and the chapel house of St. Margaret in Shetland became a home from home.

In 1952 he was transferred to Ballater where he was able once more to make use of his dramatic talents, this time with the Ballater Operatic Society who produced several very successful works under his direction. When Mgr. Paterson retired from Banff in 1957, Father Collins succeeded him there and once more became involved with the local community. He endeared himself in particular to successive groups of Lanarkshire schoolchildren who came yearly to Banff under that Education Authority's holiday scheme. He became a Canon in August 1973. He became a victim of Meniere's disease which affected his mobility considerably and by the late seventies his increasing ill health gave cause for alarm. In 1982 he retired and returned once more to Ballater which had now ceased to be a separate parish but was linked with Braemar, leaving the chapelhouse vacant. Here he was to live quietly until late in 1985, when his housekeeper's illness made it imperative that he go to Nazareth House in Aberdeen. After several spells in hospital, he died on the 31st March this year. Requiem Mass took place in Nazareth House and among the congregation were representatives of most of the parishes that he served. Interment took place at Allanvale cemetery. May he rest in peace.

Very Reverend John Canon Ward—11th May, 1986

Canon John Ward, retired parish priest of Musselburgh, died in Nazareth House, Lasswade, on 11th May, 1986, in the 77th year of his age and the 52nd of his priesthood. At the Funeral Mass in Our Lady of Loretto and St. Michael's, Musselburgh, on 14th May following, prior to interment in Mount Vernon Cemetery, the following panegyric was delivered by Mgr. Anthony McNally, V.G.

It was in 1962 that I received a letter from the Archbishop asking me to leave the parish of St. Agatha's, Methil, and to take up duties as a curate in St. Bernadette's, Larbert, where the parish priest was a Father John Ward, whom I didn't know. So I went to a neighbouring priest and asked him, "What's John Ward like?" The answer I received was, "There are perhaps three gentlemen left in the diocese and John Ward is one of them". When I come to think of it I never did find out who the third gentleman was, but that neighbouring priest was absolutely correct in his assessment. John Ward was a gentleman, but much more than that, he was a gentle man. Gentleness was his hallmark, and with that gentleness there was a great simplicity, and a lack of guile which endeared him to those he met, and those whose lives he touched.

Canon Ward's journey towards God began in Edinburgh where he was born on 3rd April 1910. He served as an altar-boy in St. Cuthbert's parish. He was a pupil at Holy Cross Academy, and belonged to that year in Holy Cross which produced seven priests. He went to Blairs College in 1924 and from there to St. Lô and Coutances in France where he was trained for the priesthood by the Sulpician Fathers, and he always retained a love for France and all things French. He was ordained in St. Mary's Cathedral in Edinburgh on 29th June 1934. His first appointment was to St. Mary's, Stirling, from where he went on loan to Aberdeen Diocese, where he worked for two years in Inverness, and on return went to Denny. In 1938 he was appointed parish priest in Duns, but it was to be short-lived because at the outset of the war he volunteered as an army chaplain. He was on one of the last boats out of France, and in the turmoil of that time was reported missing, until three weeks later he arrived at his home in Edinburgh, and stepped out of the taxi with his Mass box in one hand and his violin in the other, to the absolute delight of his parents and family. He returned to the diocese and worked in Falkirk and Holy Cross until he was appointed parish priest of Balerno in 1949. In 1957 he was appointed parish priest in Larbert where he remained for seventeen years until his appointment to Musselburgh in 1972. Twelve years later he retired from Musselburgh in September 1984, having celebrated his golden jubilee in the priesthood a few months before. He died in Nazareth House on 11th May in the presence of his two sisters and their families and the Nuns who had cared for him so well since his retirement. John Ward moved from time to eternity with the same gentleness with which he had walked through life.

I think it was Keats who described life on earth as a "Vale of soul-making". We are here to grow as persons out of the old Adam, conditioned by heredity and environment into the new man in Christ. This transformation, this soul-making begins with our baptism. As we heard in today's reading from St. Paul to the Romans, "When we were baptised in Christ Jesus, we were baptised in his death. We went into the tomb with him and joined him in death, so that as Christ was raised from the dead, we too might live a new life." From that moment of baptism we begin to grow our resurrection body, we begin our soul-making. Our growing personalities need new instruments for the kind of existence God has in store for us. So death reminds us of what our Christian lives are about—growing into the kind of person who is fit to enter the kingdom of heaven as a little child.

The soul-making of Canon John Ward was achieved largely through suffering. He never enjoyed good health. But like most people who suffer, over the years he learned patience, gentleness and compassion for others. He always had time for people. When I came to Musselburgh, I was told that you could check your watch every Tuesday afternoon by the time Canon Ward left the presbytery to visit Edenhall hospital. For seventeen years in Larbert he visited the mental institutions in Bellsdyke, with no thought but to be the priest to the patients, bringing Christ to them. And his gentleness and compassion for the suffering and loneliness of the patients were there for all to see, patients and staff alike. Only a few years ago, while already frail and feeble, he stood for hours in the rain with the local Justice and Peace group in a protest against unemployment. The local community were impressed by this frail man and the witness he gave.

He was never what we would call today a "High-flyer". He would never claim to be an intellectual, or an academic, or a theologian. But he would claim to be a priest—a man of God, a servant of the Church, and always obedient to his bishop. His life, his attitudes, his dedication, his devotion to duty, spoke priesthood all the time. Visiting the sick, visiting homes, hearing confessions, his devotion to Our Blessed Lady, to the rosary, his scrupulous attention to the daily recitation of the breviary, these were among the important ingredients in the soul-making of Canon John Ward.

The gospel we read today of the widow's mite tells us so much about ourselves as we are seen by God through the eyes of his Son, Jesus Christ. And I feel that like the widow in the Gospel, it wasn't so much what Canon Ward had as what he was. We tend to measure people by what they have, but Jesus measures us by what we are. And like the widow in the Gospel, Canon Ward gave his all in discipleship, in following the Lord; in service by his love for the people of God and his devoted attention to their needs; and in commitment to his calling as a priest.

His soul-making is now done. His soul has been forged and sculpted in the school of suffering, service and commitment, and we pray that God will now receive him into his kingdom. To his sisters and their families we convey our deepest sympathy on their loss. We thank the Sisters of Nazareth House for the care and love they showed to Canon Ward. May he rest in peace.

Reverend James Kevin Rogers—25th May, 1986

On the Feast of the Holy Trinity, 25 May 1986, the sad news of Father Kevin Roger's sudden death spread throughout the Diocese of Motherwell and far beyond.

James Kevin Rogers was born in July 1928 at Ballinalee Co. Longford in the Diocese of Ardagh and Clonmacnois. He was educated at Blackrock College, Dublin, and Knockbeg College, Carlow. He studied for the priesthood in St. Patrick's College, Carlow, and was ordained in 1953 for the Diocese of Motherwell.

On his arrival in the diocese he took up an appointment in St. Cuthbert's, Burnbank. This was followed by two years service in Holy Family, Mossend, then four years in St. Columbkille's, Rutherglen. In 1960 he was assigned to St. Margaret's, Airdrie. In 1967 he took up his final curacy in St. Barbara's, Muirhead, from which five years later he became Parish Priest of St. Catherine's, Harthill in September 1972. His final appointment came just over seven years later when in 1980, he was appointed as Parish Priest to St. Bride's, East Kilbride. And so came to an end a devoted, faithful service of 33 years to the Diocese of Motherwell.

Bishop Devine said in his panegyric, "As a number, 7 featured very prominently in the pastoral ministry of Father Kevin:—7 years in the first three parishes, 7 years in Airdrie, 7 years in Harthill, 7 appointments in all and now in his 7th year here when he died—perhaps a number of particular significance to his family as the 7th son".

One of the hallmarks of his ministry was his ability to create a sense of family community wherever he was. This was reflected in the relaxed atmosphere of the chapel house and indeed was evident in the life of the parish itself.

He took a special pride and pleasure in leading his parishioners on pilgrimages or in prayer. Each year he organised pilgrimages to Lough Derg. Last year he fulfilled another ambition when he led a group of pilgrims to the Holy Land. His love for Our Lady was demonstrated by the devotion he encouraged in each of his parishes.

Kevin Rogers was popular with his fellow priests. He enjoyed life to the full in spite of ill health in more recent years. As a student and throughout his priestly life he had a determination to strive for the best at whatever he did. Even as an all-round sportsman he never conceded defeat.

Requiem Mass was offered for the happy repose of his soul in St. Bride's Church, East Kilbride by Bishop Devine. Among the congregation were many priest friends and parishioners from his former parishes.

After Mass his remains were taken to Ireland to his native Ballinalee, Co. Longford, where he was laid to rest in the family grave beside his parents. Priests and friends from the diocese travelled to Longford to be present at the reception of his remains and the funeral obsequies. Mgr. Gillen, Vicar General of the diocese was the principal celebrant at the Mass offered in the church of St. James', Clonbroney, where Kevin was baptised, made his first confession and received his first Holy Communion. It was here he said Mass whenever he came home. So, it was fitting that he should have chosen to be buried from this beautiful rural church which he acknowledged as having such a significant rôle in his spiritual development. It was here that the wheel of life,—Kevin's life, had turned its full circle at the early age of 58 years.

One of Kevin's greatest assets was his sense of humour which was evident in his life to all who knew him and was evident even in death to those who attended his funeral. As the prayers were being recited at the graveside and his family and friends were feeling the sense of loss, the heavens opened, the rain came pouring down and everyone was soaked to the skin. Kevin would have enjoyed that.

There is an old Irish saying: Happy the corpse that the rain rains on.

May Kevin's soul rest contentedly in the happiness of God's home.

Reverend John McKee, B.A.—27th June, 1986

Father John McKee, retired parish priest of St. Margaret's, Davidson's Mains, died in Norwich on 27th June, 1986, in the 75th year of his age and the 51st of his priesthood. Born in Edinburgh on 20th February, 1912 he studied at Blairs, the Pontifical Scots College, Rome, and Oscott College, Birmingham. He was ordained priest by the Archbishop of St. Andrews and Edinburgh in St. Mary's Cathedral, Edinburgh, on 6th June, 1936. At the Funeral Mass in St. Margaret's, Davidson's Mains, on 7th July following, prior to interment in Mount Vernon Cemetery, the following homily was delivered by his cousin, Mgr. Francis Duffy, Vicar General of Galloway.

On June 6th—a month ago tomorrow—nine of us assembled in Father McKee's home just outside Norwich to be with him on the occasion of his Golden Jubilee of priestly ordination. Nine of us—Archbishop O'Brien, Bishop Monaghan, Bishop Logan, Bishop Alan Clark, the Bishop of East Anglia, and five priest friends stood around the table in his sitting room and celebrated together, along with Jack, his Jubilee Mass. Every Mass is special; any golden jubilee Mass is very special, but there is something unique about a golden jubilee Mass that is also a man's last Mass, all the more when that man's life had revolved round his Mass. I don't want you to think that it was a sad Mass; it was not . . . and he would want us to banish any sadness today. He was blessed in having lived till that jubilee day, and it was he—not us—who set the tone of happiness and Christian joy. We all knew that today could not be long delayed, but that caused us little or no sorrow, because this was a good man—a good priest—preparing to go home.

I spoke the simple little homily on that day, and I remember saying that he was a happy man because he could look back over the 50 years of his priesthood and say, "No regrets; Deo gratias." When he began his priesthood in 1936, he could not foresee the future any more than you and I can foresee the future. He did not know what he would be called to do; he did not know what interior strength he would have, and need; he only knew that Scotland needed priests and he wished to be in their number. Fifty years later, he could say, without arrogance and with deep humility, "Deo gratias. He who began the good work in me has carried it through."

He had three apostolates within his priesthood. After graduating at Cambridge he taught in Blairs for fourteen years. History was his subject; Belloc was the inevitable nickname given him by the boys, because Hilaire Belloc's concept of the history of Europe being the history of the Catholic Church was the basis of Father Jack's teaching; and a lot of the craggy-jawed assurance of Belloc's deep faith rubbed off on his disciple, and stayed with him till the end.

His second apostolate was the work in parishes, firstly in Peebles, which he loved, and then latterly and finally here in St. Margaret's, Davidson's Mains. Though he left Edinburgh some eighteen years ago, I am sure that many here today recall his devoted work as your parish priest. He was a man of vision; could always see just what a parish needed, and set about wholeheartedly to provide it. Bishop Logan was his curate here, and there were others. May I say to you, My Lord, that you recently made a dying man very happy when you referred to your days together here as "The Golden Days"?

But I would class his third apostolate as the most important and certainly the most spiritually fruitful for himself, and through him, for others. On June 6th, at his jubilee Mass, I reminded him that when I was ordained in Rome three years after him, he wrote me a wonderful letter, a serious letter, quite uncharacteristic between two people who had ragged each other since babyhood. He wrote: "Francis, I pass on to you a thought my mother quoted to me on the day of my ordination—a thought she in turn had borrowed from Mamma Margherita, the saintly mother of St. John Bosco, who said to John on his ordination day, 'Remember that to begin to say Mass is to begin to suffer.'"

There was a measure of suffering all his life; his seminary days were broken by illness; his teaching years were made painful by a gastric ulcer; his parish years ended early through indifferent health. But he always made sure that he was the only one suffering; he never bored others.

But this third apostolate really began when the sequels and consequences of diabetes seriously affected him. Gradually he went blind; but he had taken time by the forelock, he was prepared. Blindness would not stop his daily Mass. He would lay everything out reverently, vest, switch on the tape recorder that would steer him through the text of the Mass. Foreseeing total blindness, he had made provision that the one important thing would not suffer.

As time went on, the Golgotha became more real. An amputation was necessary, and his poor body began to fail; but never his spirit. His tape-recorded letters to us were still sharp, perceptive, witty. He had acquired the great gift of being able to accept his painful and curtailed kind of life and to offer it back to God for his spiritual advancement. Last Sunday, while still trying to absorb the fact of Jack's death, I was reading the Divine Office for the Feast of Saints Peter and Paul; and the words of the Scripture Reading jumped up from the printed page with a topical relevance: If you can have some share in the sufferings of Christ, be glad, because you will enjoy a much greater gladness when his glory is revealed. We believe that the glory of God has already touched the soul of Father Jack.

He wrote a lot in defence of belief, of the Church; he refused to water things down when others were losing their nerve. Among his writings, we should still treasure Letters To A Nurse, a lucid and compelling statement of the Catholic position. May I quote from it what he wrote about suffering long before he was called to put it into practice? He wrote "When you come to examine it, it seems that suffering—having to undergo—is about the greatest ennobler of man that there is. How, for example, a man like Scott of the Antarctic rises to great stature, because of what he underwent, and underwent so finely. Isn't the theme of all the greatest stories in the world the enduring of trials and the final winning of victory? Suffering brings out the best in us if only we bear it patiently."

Easy to write—yes. But what a joy if we can put it into practice. He did just that. And that is why we should not be sad today. Tears there must be; I think of Joan who tended him in his last years with a care that defies description; Joan, our family, his priest friends and all who cared for him thank you for your devoted nursing. He was part of your vocation in life, and you have lost nothing by his departure.

How to end this homily? In the way he would want. He would say to me, "How dare you waste time talking about me. Tell them to pray for me." Yes, Jack; I do that now. Eighteen years ago this month, you stood beside me as I offered my mother's Requiem Mass here in this church. You said to me, "Read to the people Father Bede Jarrett's lovely prayer." I did—and I read it again for you.

We seem to give them back to thee, O God, who gavest them to us: yet, as thou didst not lose them in giving, so we do not lose them by their return. For life is eternal, and love is immortal, and death is only a horizon, and a horizon is nothing save the limit of our sight. Draw us closer to thyself so that we may know ourselves and be nearer to our loved ones who are with thee. And while thou dost prepare a place for us, prepare us for that happy place, that where thou art we may be also for evermore. Amen.

Reverend John McGeown—12th July, 1986

Father John McGeown, retired parish priest of Sacred Heart, Grangemouth, died in Gortin, Co. Tyrone, on 12th July, 1986, in the 73rd year of his age and the 49th of his priesthood. Born at Drunlea, Co. Tyrone, he finished his education at St. Kieran's College, Kilkenny and was ordained priest by Bishop Patrick Collier of Ossory on 12th June, 1938, for the Archdiocese of St. Andrews and Edinburgh. He served as assistant priest in Rosewell (1938-43) and as parish priest in Slamannan (1943-7), Dunbar (1947-58), Cowdenbeath (1958-72) and Sacred Heart, Grangemouth (1972-9). At the Funeral Mass in St. Patrick's, Gortin, on 14th July, prior to interment in the adjoining cemetery, the following homily was delivered by the Reverend Joseph McMullan, of St. Peter's, Livingston.

As followers of Our Blessed Lord, we aspire to be living witnesses of our Christian faith. But in his letter to the Romans, St. Paul suggests that we be dying witnesses to the faith as well—"The life and death of each of us has its influence on others".

Our Lord himself spoke a lot about death and life and he linked them inseparably. The grain of wheat had to die before it could bring forth new life. Those who followed him would have to lose their lives before they could save them. When God calls, it is not first to action. His first call is to change, repent; to put off "the old man" and then put on the new. This necessity to die to ourselves—we call it self sacrifice, self abandonment, self denial—was laid down by our Lord as the essential prerequisite for all who seek life.

It was not a teaching that was new. Ever since God called Abraham, the pattern was set. He had to leave family and country—die a little—before he could live in the land that God would show him. So too, the people of Israel had to leave the flesh-pots of Egypt and die with Moses in the wilderness before there could begin a new life in the promised land.

St. Paul continually alluded to this theme in his letters. He saw himself as a dead man, a man "crucified to the world"; and he pointed out that we had to be a people "dying" before we could say, "behold, we live".

Among the Catholics in Scotland, the priesthood is held in high esteem. That, to a great degree, is a tribute to the many priests from Ireland who have worked fruitfully for generations to re-establish the faith and promote its growth. Much of the respect derives from the fact that the people sensed the price these men had to pay in pursuit of their calling—the sacrifices they had to make.

Like Abraham of old, they had to die a little in leaving home and country to go to the land God had chosen for them. For many there was a "wilderness" of loneliness to be endured—the loneliness of the stranger in a strange land; until they became accepted and the people took them to their hearts. Perhaps, too, history will someday record with honour the part these priests from Ireland played in reforming the Church in Scotland in accordance with the mind of the Second Vatican Council. Again, they had to give up much that they cherished and held dear in order to introduce the changes that would renew the people of God.

In their sacrifices was the gift of life. They became God's living instruments in imparting his word, his love and his life.

Father Sean McGeown was one of their number. He expressed the wish that there be no panegyric at his funeral. In respect of his wishes I will, therefore, limit myself to paying him one small tribute.

When, because of indifferent health, he had to retire from the Archdiocese of St. Andrews and Edinburgh in 1979, Cardinal Gray wrote to him. In his letter the Cardinal expressed his sadness at losing one of his "rocks". It was a succinct summary of the man—a reliable, dependable priest. Father Sean's house was not built on sand. His foundations were deep in humility, his faith was sure, his loyalty to God and his Church was solid, his friendships, as many of us know, were enduring.

Like myself, he was not an intellectual. His was not the learning of theologians. He simply lived the faith of his fathers, that living faith that has been passed down in his family through many generations.

It was that living faith that sustained him in his final dying. As the body died, the soul quickened. As patience was tested in suffering, his faith deepened, his hope strengthened, his love grew. On the 12th of June he celebrated his 48th anniversary in the priesthood. By a happy coincidence I was able to be with him, together with members of his family, and to concelebrate in hospital what was to be our last Mass together. At that Mass I sensed in him not just resignation, but a certain contentment as he knew God was calling him to pass finally from death to life eternal.

In his death we all die a little too. We will miss his friendship, his humour—the company of a good priest. And yet we gain. In God he is closer to us now than he could ever be here.

May I finally say what I know he would want me to say. Remember him and pray for him. May he rest in peace.

Very Rev. Patrick Canon Dineen—5th September, 1986

From "the banks of my own lovely Lee" to "The Bonnie Banks of Loch Lomond" and return; with stop-overs at Gorbals, Shettleston, Castlemilk, and Rosneath; is encircled the life of a priest who served the Archdiocese of Glasgow for fifty years, short of a few months.

From its many assets in the County of Cork, The Bank of Divine Providence provided once again a further bequest to the Catholics of Glasgow. Hundreds of times before, in the persons of the many priests born within the sounds of the Shandon Bells, who followed the journey originated by the great St. Columba himself, the Holy Mass and the Sacraments were provided for the increasing numbers of Catholics in the West of Scotland. In 1937, almost fifty years ago, it was the turn of Patrick Dineen, to continue this great tradition. and how well he honoured it!

Born in Kilnamartyra, in the union of Macroom, West Cork, in the January of 1910, Fr. Pat, as he came to be known to his family, relatives and friends, was the youngest of five sons and five daughters of Denis and Brigid Dineen. As with so many families of his time and place, and before he was old enough to go to school, two of his older sisters and a brother joined "thy children now exiled on many a shore." In San Francisco, California, they kept the vow to "love and revere thee till time be no more". His sister, Mary, took the religious name of Sister Anselm, as one of The Holy Family Sisters, and spent 59 years teaching and preparing children for First Holy Communion. Another sister joined the Loreto Sisters, in Fermoy, but died during the 'flu epidemic just after the First World War. Two brothers also died during the same tragic period. Another sister was Principal of Castletown National School, Tramore, for over 40 years. A brother and a sister were killed during the struggle for Independence.

This account of family history helps those who knew Fr. Dineen, to better understand the remarkable reticence he showed about his earliest days. Whereas the wealth of life lies in happy memories, and this Priest of God had had more than his share of unhappy ones, that very reticence showed that he would not allow a natural sadness to reduce his concern for others. On the contrary, like his Divine Master, he had undergone suffering himself, and so was more than willing to share the sufferings of those under his care.

Educated at the local school in Kilnamartyra, and after some time at the Sacred Heart College, Cork, Patrick Dineen began his studies for the priesthood at St. John's College, Waterford. There in 1937, he was ordained for the Archdiocese of Glasgow, by Dr. Gerard Kinnane, Bishop of Waterford and Lismore, who later became Archbishop of Cashel and Emlý. Repeating the experience of so many priests before him, he took up a "week-end" appointment at St. John's, Portugal Street, an appointment which was to last for 21 years!

Under the guidance of the late Mgr. Archibald McSparran, and later under Canon John Boyle, with the collegial support of his fellow-curates, many of whom were from his own country, the new priest quickly became a part of the lives of his parishioners. He gave himself wholeheartedly to enriching the lives of his people. Founded on a very solid spiritual base, by his own personal example, he gave out inspiration. St. John the Evangelist, patron of the parish, had been shown great trust by Our Divine Lord when being given the remarkable responsibility of looking after Our Blessed Lady. Fr. Dineen speedily set about making sure that the people of St. John's would answer to this trust placed in their patron. In a short space of time, he was spiritual director for six praesidia of the Legion of Mary, two of which were made up entirely of men. The less fortunates of society were visited in the local lodging houses, and there was founded the Wayside Club.

The Gorbals Catholics were reminded by Fr. Dineen of their obligation to spread the Good News, and that this was to be done by the example of their own lives. A great many parishioners had come from Donegal. Great emphasis was placed on the national culture they had brought with them to Glasgow. On the Sunday nearest to the Feast of St. Patrick, and before the days of the vernacular, the Evening service, consisting of the Rosary, Sermon and Benediction, including all the hymns and the Divine Praises, was conducted in Irish Gaelic. On the advent of the use of the vernacular, Holy Mass was celebrated in Irish, and here it would not be improper to register the accomplishments of Miss Elizabeth Harvey, headmistress of St. John's Girls School, who, whilst not a Gaelic speaker herself, learned the phonetics and taught the whole school to take part in the Mass.

In close association with the Gaelic League, and as honorary president of the Feis, Fr. Dineen arranged for the grand Irish concerts which took place regularly in St. Andrew's Halls, and the Bedford Cinema. The best of Irish talent, notably the wonderful Maire Ni Scollai, filled the programme, and the entertainment thus provided, gave a reminder to the audience of the wealth that was theirs, which same wealth was to be taken and shared in the course of integrating with the community.

There was never any doubt as to when to meet with Fr. Dineen. At the appointed time! C'est la politesse des rois!! A regal regard for his office and the duties thereby, meant that for Fr. Dineen, Holy Mass was started on the dot, not a minute early, not a minute late. He expected, and he obtained, a reciprocal regard from the parishioners. Legion of Mary meetings began when they were meant to begin, and no member was ever "neglected" if the proper starting time had not been observed. Short and sincere were his sermons, containing helpful and encouraging reminders of the respect shown for the Faith in Ireland, all of which meant so much to so many of his listeners.

The crowded church and the fervour of the congregation reflected the devoted attention given by Fr. Dineen to visitation. His kindly manner helped lift many a wounded soul, but if the situation called for a firm correction, this was given, and the outcome was an increased gratitude to someone who really cared. Regular visits to the Girls' School meant that as the years went by, many young brides walked down the aisle to meet the priest who had such a strong influence on their lives, and today these same women hold a deep and lasting respect for this man of God.

The outbreak of the Second World War brought extra duties to the young priest. Along with his fellow-curates, he attended to the spiritual needs of the boys and girls who had been evacuated to the Ayrshire villages of Ballantrae, Colmonnel, and Dundonald. His own innate courtesy was extremely helpful in establishing good relations with the local people. He had a great sense of propriety, and would never descend to the low level of false humility. He carried his office with dignity, and expected others to act likewise, whether clerical or lay. This sense of due propriety was illustrated on an occasion when, calling at the mansion house for the purpose of offering Holy Mass, he was asked to use the tradesmen's entrance. He did not!

Gorbals suffered from the blitz. One night of heavy bombing brought great sadness to many homes. In the company of a fellow-curate, he searched out the injured and the dead. The Sacraments were administered. A few days later, he shared the grief of the bereaved as he officiated at a communal burial in Lambhill Cemetery. To lighten the sadness of these memories, in recall, Fr. Dineen would tell many happy stories of life in St. John's. Among these anecdotes was one concerning the lovable, but wayward, character, known as Johnny Ramensky. A known safe-breaker, and freed from prison to be parachuted behind enemy lines for the purpose of breaking open enemy safes; he returned to his old ways. Fr. Dineen always claimed that Johnny could be taken captive by a child, he was so gentle. His views were prophetic. Ramensky, undergoing a fresh term of imprisonment, had escaped. He was discovered in a barn, and he gave himself up—to a child.

In 1958, after 21 years in his first appointment, Fr. Dineen received his first Parish, St. Barnabas', Shettleston. He had had many happy years in St. John's, many happy memories, among which was to have seen a fellow-curate raised to the episcopate, the Right Reverend William Hart, Bishop of Dunkeld. Now he headed to the East. Here he was to meet with an early disappointment! Happily, it was very short-lived. Indeed it was more of a misunderstanding. Or, rather, was it a case of being unable to understand? On his first visit to the Women's Guild, he found that he could not grasp what was being said. In his sensitivity, he seemed to fear that this was brought about deliberately, as a sign of non-acceptance. In a very few moments his anxiety was dispelled. His curate was able to give him the explanation. He had come from a parish where the Irish accent was commonplace. In Shettleston, he was listening to second or third generation Irish. Whatever Irish accent some of his new parishioners might ever have had, it was now the accent of people who had lived in Glasgow for a long time, indeed most had been born in Glasgow, and now had only very faint traces of the accent which had belonged to parents or grandparents. This problem quickly overcome, the new Parish Priest, just as quickly endeared himself to the people of Shettleston.

Early arrangements had been completed for a new church. The one inherited by Fr. Dineen was really inadequate. Eight years before, in 1950, what had been the parochial hall of St. Paul's, Shettleston, was allocated by the Archbishop to be the church of the new parish of St. Barnabas'. This action had been pressed on the Archdiocese because of the increasing numbers of Catholics who had recently arrived in Greenfield. The majority had come from Sacred Heart, Bridgeton, and St. Mary's, Calton. The former parochial hall of St. Paul's had been a cinema when purchased. A very good operation had been carried out in converting it to a church, but it had still many limitations. It was to be the task of Fr. Dineen to carry forward the early arrangements, and see to the erection of a new building, adjacent to the current one.

Meticulously methodical, the wise choice of Archbishop Campbell was soon confirmed by the new Parish Priest. It took more than one day to build Rome. It took a little over 1,000 days to build the new St. Barnabas', and a great deal more sterling. But, in his own quiet way, the pastor brought forth from the parishioners a tremendous support and loyalty. After many skillful encounters with builders and architects, there was produced a fitting tribute to the loving co-operation between the parish priest, assistant priests, and parishioners. Enigmatically, that seems to be the word to describe how a parish priest produced so much, such success, with so little noise. Everything just seemed to happen without any great fuss. This is typified in the following illustration. St. Barnabas' has a blue carpet on the High Altar. The liturgical laws of the time allowed only red or green to be used. On the occasion of the opening of the new church, the Archbishop gave his silent blessing to this deviation! This was emphasised when the Archbishop, thanking the parish priest for all he had done, summarised his appreciation with the words, "He never bothered us." Fr. Dineen never asked any unnecessary questions. He never had to accept any unwelcome answers.

Five years after his arrival, the parish priest was able to meet with his parishioners in the lovely new church. Those years and the following seven years saw the parish flourish. Throughout all of these years, having been apprenticed to Mgr. McSparran and Canon Boyle, it was inevitable that Fr.

Dineen regarded as his first parishioners, the fellow priests appointed as his curates, or assistant priests as they came to be known. They were always fellow priests. If any distinction was shown it was in the manner with which he reserved to himself the primary concerns in the administration of the parish, never burdening the curates with unnecessary anxieties. Always after courteous consultation, long before the Second Vatican Council, any extra responsibilities accepted by the curates were left to their jurisdiction. He never interfered. The results was a very happy, harmonious, coexistence. The presbytery was indeed Home. The domestic matters were supervised by the housekeeper, and here justice demands that record be made of the attentive care given by Mrs. Maureen O'Sullivan. The importance of each individual priest was the standard by which she made sure that all that could be done, was indeed done. The clear evidence of thoughtful preparation, allied to the professional skill acquired in earlier years, made everyone feel important. There are many who have many happy memories of taking a place at the table in St. Barnabas'. The other members of staff carried out their duties with a lighthearted willingness, inspired by the standards set by the housekeeper. This was to be the norm throughout the further years of Fr. Dineen's life.

A priest is ordained for the needs of the Archdiocese. In dutiful obedience to the wishes of his Archbishop, Fr. Dineen accepted a transfer to the larger parish of St. Margaret Mary's, Castlemilk. And so, in 1970, after twelve years service given to the people of St. Barnabas', he moved to the south-west of Glasgow. Bowing to the inevitable, accepting it as an obligation, he returned to Shettleston to receive the tributes of his former parishioners. The occasion gave unquestionable proof of the bonds forged between them and their former parish priest. He humbly accepted what he had so rightfully earned, the very sincere expression of gratitude from a very grateful people.

Bordering the diocese of Motherwell, his new parish received dedicated attention. St. Margaret Mary's was created by the post-war housing programme of the local authority, and many of the parishioners had happy memories revived on the arrival of their new parish priest. A great number had been parishioners of St. John's, Portugal Street, or of St. Luke's, Ballater Street. They had been faithful to all they had learned before their arrival in Castlemilk, so they and their new pastor found no difficulty in renewing their associations. Fr. Dineen had not changed. He still carried out his own interpretation of the initials "P.P."—standing for punctuality and principles. The great numbers at Holy Mass, attendances at Stations of the Cross during Lent, the Rosary during October, all proved that Fr. Dineen, through his characteristic obedience to the wishes of his Archbishop, had brought with him many blessings for the people of St. Margaret Mary's. As before, he regarded his assistant priests as fellow priests, again reserving to himself the concerns and anxieties arising from administering a busy parish. He enjoyed being so near to the fields and country life he had known at home in Ireland. He never neglected the opportunity to wander in green pastures, and with his faithful Golden Labrador, would take long walks, enjoying the exercise, keeping himself fit for the work involved in a large, busy parish.

St. John's, St. Barnabas', and St. Margaret Mary's, did not belie Fr. Dineen's description of "the big battalions". Nobody could question his fidelity to duty nor did his superior, Archbishop Winning, and so, when he was offered the charge of St. Gildas', Rosneath, it was in tribute to the work of a good and faithful servant. He readily accepted the offer. He was happy to be relieved of the heavy responsibilities of the larger parishes. Being unsure of the exact location of his new charge, he was therefore unaware of the uncanny echoes of his earliest years. Coming from the County of Cork, with its large seaport of Cobh, pronounced Cove, and its famous Shandon Bells, he was now in charge of a parish which included the village of Cove, and was quite near to the village of Shandon. He, a parishioner of Kilnamartyra, with its church dedicated to St. Lachteen, pronounced Lochteen, was to spend his later years of service on the banks of the Holy Loch!

In 1978, Fr. Dineen took up residence in the parish of St. Gildas'. The very small number of parishioners proved to be, not a challenge, but an encouragement to the new pastor. Here he could give individual attention to each member of his parish, something which had been impossible in his earlier charges. In no time, his unassuming manner, his understanding of the rural community, and not least his deep Faith, brought remarkable results. In the words of one of his parishioners, "he became part of the community with a speed which did not appear to have a rational explanation." The same parishioner went on to add, "Canon Dineen was our friend but was a greater friend of God. Through him we were privileged to share in that friendship." Part of the inheritance passed to his successor was the little ceremony at the end of Mass when all the pre-communion children would walk out to him for a blessing. A parishioner described this in the words, "Jesus and the Canon would have got on well."

It was at Easter of 1983, Fr. Dineen was asked to join the Cathedral Chapter, and accept the title of Very Reverend Canon. He regarded this as another opportunity of showing priestly respect for his superior, his own preference for anonymity being put aside. The parishioners were delighted, and being able to address him as Canon, gave to them a further measure by which they could show their respect and esteem for their spiritual guide.

God works in mysterious ways. Canon Dineen had had the mind to retire in October, 1986—was it to avoid public recognition of his Golden Jubilee—or was it that the good and faithful servant felt he could no longer provide a service to match his principles—nevertheless, it became known that the Divine Plan had something different. After medical examinations, it was revealed to the Canon that his condition of health would not allow him to carry out his prepared plan. It was necessary that he retire as soon as possible, rather than wait until October. Almighty God, in His Goodness, provided sufficient time for the retrial plans to be speeded up and implemented. It was on Thursday, 4th September, 1986, the Canon in his fiftieth year of service to the Archdiocese, started his return home to Ireland. In the modern fashion, he used a flight of Aer Lingus, and speedily reached his destination, Castle Warren, Co. Kilkenny, where he intended to spend the rest of his life. As against the slow and demanding journey by sea, the manner by which he had left his native home, air travel afforded greater speed and comfort. God had meant this to be. Within twenty-four hours, his life had come to a close. In the early hours of the morning of 5th September, 1986, he suffered a spasm, and having called for his housekeeper, and her son Fr. Eugene O'Sullivan, he received the Sacraments from the young priest. Fortified by the blessing of the Church he had served so well, he died in the arms of the priest.

"Saol fada agus bas in Eirinn". In his Divine Goodness, and under the blessing of his Holy Mother, God had granted to the Canon, his lifelong desire to end his earthly existence in his native land, and to begin his eternal existence with the support of the Sacraments. He had spent his first day of his priesthood in Ireland, he had wished to spend the last day of his priesthood in Ireland. His Divine Master granted that wish to a good and faithful servant.

On Saturday, 6th September, 1986, not long after sunset, the funeral cortege arrived from Castle Warren, Co. Kilkenny, into the beautiful setting of the hills and the remarkable calm of Kilnamartyra. The journey of a missionary for Christ was over. Reflecting his own quiet manner, fellow parishioners of the Canon, many of whom could remember him from his earliest days, gathered silently, which was their lovely way of showing respect for a priest.

A Requiem Mass was concelebrated and among the concelebrants were priests from each of the parishes in which Canon Dineen had served, including Fr. Philip Tartaglia who had assisted the Canon in his latter weeks at St. Gildas'. The principal concelebrant was Fr. Nicholas Rowan who had shared duty in St. John's.

The following day, Sunday, 7th September, 1986, the Funeral Mass took place. The principal concelebrant was the Right Rev. John Aloysius Mone, auxiliary Bishop of Glasgow, representing Archbishop Winning. The Bishop of Cloyne was represented by the Right Rev. Monsignor Daniel O'Connell, Vicar General of the diocese. Again, the concelebrants included priests from each of the parishes in which the Canon had been, and these were joined by priests from home and abroad. The ceremonies were under the supervision of the Rev. Denis Stritch, C.C., Kilnamartyra. Monsignor O'Connell had been the curate when the Canon had offered his First Mass in Kilnamartyra, and, as if it had all been meant to happen, he was able to show a photograph of the family group taken on that occasion. Bishop Mone paid tribute to the work of Canon Dineen, and acknowledged the debt by the Archdiocese. He described his own presence and that of his brother priests from Glasgow Archdiocese as signs of the love and respect felt for their departed friend.

It was fitting that for a priest who had remained a fluent Gaelic speaker, who had never allowed himself to forget his native land, the penitential rite of this Mass should be recited in the Irish tongue. At the close of the Mass, as the funeral procession moved to the burial plot just outside the church, the children sang the "Hail Mary" in Irish. This dual salute would have received full approval from Canon Dineen, honouring Our Blessed Lady and in the tongue in which he had himself first learned to do so.

Having been baptised, received his First Holy Communion and been confirmed in his native parish, the body of this son of Kilnamartyra was taken from that same church and laid to rest alongside it, next to the graves of former priests from the parish. He rests among his own people who knew and loved him from infancy, and he rests in his native soil which he loved.

To quote the words of Monsignor O'Connell. "You, your confrères and Bishop must have thought highly of Canon Pat to have come all the way from Glasgow for his funeral; your presence was very much appreciated by all concerned at this side." The judgement of the Monsignor was completely accurate. It could only be emended by including everyone who knew Canon Patrick Dineen. Ar dheis De na nAingeal go raibh a anam dhilis.

Rev. Peter Gorman—15th September, 1986

"Et factus in agonia, prolixius orabat".

This quotation from St. Luke 22/44 concerning Our Lord's agony in the garden could be justifiably applied to Peter Gorman's last months on earth. "In great agony, he prayed even more fervently." Just as Jesus, although surrounded by friends, became closer to the Father through prayer in his agony and Passion, the same is true of Peter. The staff in Canniesburn hospital, the Western Infirmary and Bon Secours testify to that, not to mention his family, the priests and staff of St. Columbkille's, and his many friends, priests, lay persons, local doctors and nurses. He died a holy and happy death.

Peter was born on 15th December, 1939, the son of Thomas and Janet, the eldest of a family of eight, the others being Janette, May, Joseph, Kathleen, Thomas, James and Anthony. Born in Coatdyke, he went to All Saints' primary school, and then spent a year in Our Lady's High School, Motherwell. From there, he was accepted for St. Mary's College, Blairs, Aberdeen, where he completed his secondary school education in 1957. He was sent by his superiors to St. Sulpice in Paris, where, unfortunately, his health broke down, and he returned home to work for a year in Edinburgh as a civil servant. His vocation undiminished, he then continued his philosophy and theology in St. Peter's, Cardross, and it was from there he went to Our Lady of Good Aid Cathedral, Motherwell, to be ordained a priest by Bishop Francis Thomson on 29th June, 1965. He said his first Mass the following day in his home parish of St. Andrew's Airdrie. His first appointment was St. Brigid's, Newmains, followed by St. Joseph's, Blantyre, St. Aloysius', Chapelhall, St. Bernadette's, Motherwell and St. Columbkille's, Rutherglen, where he died early in the morning of 15th September 1986, the feast of Our Lady of Sorrows. His funeral Mass took place in that parish on 18th September and he was interred in Rochsoles cemetery in Airdrie.

In his twenty-one years as a priest, he served not only the parishes, but also the schools and convents in them, and was a chaplain to the Territorial Army for three years.

Several considerations spring readily to mind regarding Peter as a person, a student and priest. As a person he was very private—to know him properly one had to be his friend. He was private because he thought a lot and kept those thoughts to himself, but, occasionally, in his rather gruff voice, and as succinctly as possible, he would share those thoughts, and then relapse again into silence. There was no beating about the bush with Peter, there was no "perhaps" in his language. Because of this straightforwardness he was a popular man.

Some people might have thought him shy, but this was not really so, because if he liked you or liked what you were doing or saying, he would tell you, if not, he would keep quiet, unless he knew you very well. He could be very direct, even severe, but he was the same with himself. In spite of that, Peter had a fantastic sense of humour. He could crack a joke and send everyone into peals of laughter without a smile on his face.

Punctuality was one of his greatest assets all through his life, but there was certainly one occasion when this rebounded on him. Peter and two companions had gone into Helensburgh from St. Peter's, Cardross, on a morning holiday. It was time for getting back for lunch and the three were heading for the bus stop a couple of hundred yards further on, when the bus passed. Suddenly Peter took off, leaving his companions in his wake (they knew they had no chance of catching it). They could not see what was happening because of the crowded pavement, but fifty yards further on they found Peter upended in the middle of a dust bin, which in his haste he had not even seen. His companions were told it was all their fault but an hour or so later, Peter was joining in their explosive mirth, as the story was recounted to the rest of the students.

Like all human beings, Peter loved his holidays. They were very varied. One holiday saw him on a trip by minibus through Europe, with six priest companions. Everything on that holiday was decided by majority vote, stopping places, restaurants, etc.—during that holiday Peter never won one single vote. Those who knew him can imagine his comments. The holiday began in Belgium, went on to Germany, and the final part was in France. Peter did not like Germany very much because he could not speak the language, and was looking forward to France as an excellent French speaker. Eventually, when France was reached, and the companions were last, Peter was despatched to enquire from a lorry driver parked a hundred yards away, how to reach the destination. Ten minutes later he was back, red faced, and all he said was "Another Kraut" and sat sullenly for an hour.

Another trip Peter made was to South Africa to officiate at his brother's marriage. His friends decided to see him off with a meal near Glasgow Airport. It was an excellent and expensive meal, enjoyed by all except Peter, who almost choked on the bones of his Dover sole. Peter made "no bones" in his remarks to management and friends that the restaurant was terrible and he would not be back. By coincidence, one of these friends was driving past the same restaurant to Peter's funeral, and noticed, with some hilarity, that the name of the restaurant had been changed to "Simon's" (Peter's nickname).

Many stories could be told of Peter but the above are some of his friends' favourites.

Peter's student life fell into two very different categories. As a Blairentian, he was a leader, both academically and on the sports field. He was a member of St. Ninian's form, rather infamous, who in their time managed to have three eminent form masters, Monsignor Frank Duffy, Father Hugh McGurk, and Bishop Charles Renfrew. Peter, in his top year, was decano, and an honest and just ruler of the house. On the football park and athletics field he was arguably the best centre forward and fastest sprinter of that era, and in his studies an example to the rest of his class-mates, due to his dedication.

When he arrived in St. Peter's two years after leaving Blairs, his fellow students wondered what had happened to the strong, athletic, seventeen-year-old youth. Gaunt and weak, he was not the Peter Gorman they had known, but gradually he improved, although he never attained the full physical fitness of his teenage years. Philosophy and Theology were no problem to him, because Peter had a photographic memory and could instantly recall the very page and line of his books or notes, whenever required. His football brain was still the same, but his body did not allow him to do what had been second nature in Blairs. However, when he was ordained at the age of 25, he was a reasonably fit and capable young man, looking forward to the joys and challenges of the priesthood.

It's as a priest that Peter will be best remembered by most. In all five parishes he did his best for the people, whether sick or fit, whether young or old. If any one aspect of his priestly work stood out it surely must have been his house to house visitation. His parishioners knew him well because he visited them regularly. Regularly, in Peter's case, meant at least twice every three months. It was due to this that he formed a tremendous rapport with all those under his care.

From his earliest days as a priest, his sermons were meticulously prepared. He had files of them, for all occasions and all the Sundays of the Church's three year cycle. Like his nature, his sermons were direct and no one was in any doubt as to his interpretation of the word of God. Many a person returned to the Sacrament of Penance as a result of Peter's words.

A great part of a priest's life is involvement with his own family. That is certainly true of Peter. Mrs. Gorman could put the kettle on, knowing almost to the minute when her son would be home on a Tuesday.

His care of the sick and elderly, and his visitation of hospitals was second to none, maybe due in his later years to his identification with the sick. Like his parish visitation, this work was done on a very regular basis, and with compassion and tenderness.

Peter loved schoolchildren. He enjoyed working with teachers and those in their charge. How well they sung at his funeral Mass!

As a man of prayer, he grew closer to God as he approached his death, but Peter was always a man of prayer. Mental prayer was his forte, he was never the Pharisee type, nor the Charismatic type, but rather the private type.

In a most touching panegyric, Bishop Devine told the congregation Peter's last words to him a few hours before his death were "I am content". All those privileged to have known Peter Gorman are more than content to have done so and continually pray he is in the kingdom of heaven. The words of the early nineteenth century Irish poet, Thomas Moore, express our thoughts:

"And the tear that we shed, tho' in secret it rolls Shall long keep his memory green in our souls."

Requiescat in pace.

Very Reverend William Canon Duddy—8th October, 1986

The facts of Canon Duddy's life are easily told. He was born in Carluke on 9th January, 1913 and was educated at the local Catholic primary School—St. Athanasius—at Our Lady's High School, Motherwell and St. Mary's College, Blairs. From Blairs he proceeded to the Scots College, Rome, where he was ordained in 1937. On returning to Scotland, because it was the golden age when there was a plentiful supply of priests, he became almost an itinerant curate for a few years, supplying in various parishes for short periods although his stay in Baillieston, made him many friends and a lasting impact on many of the parishioners. Eventually, he was appointed to the staff of St. Mary's College, Blairs, where he was to remain most happily for 14 years and to prove himself a successful and popular teacher. He wept when he heard of Blairs closure.

On his return to the Diocese of Motherwell, he became assistant priest to the memorable Canon Peter Sexton in St. Bernadette's, Motherwell, before being appointed as Parish Priest of St. Catherine's, Harthill and Salsburgh, then to St Kevin's, Bargeddie, St. Luke's, Motherwell, St. Patrick's, Coatbridge, and finally to St. Margaret's, Airdrie. He had hoped to remain there long enough to celebrate the 150th anniversary of the Parish in 1986 and his own Golden Jubilee in the priesthood in 1987, but failing health and a sensitive awareness of his inability to meet the full needs of the people, prompted him to resign in October 1985. He retired to St. Monica's, Coatbridge, to live with his friend Father Thomas Gibbons, enjoying retirement there for only a year, dying in St. Monica's on 8th October 1986. These bare facts are like a railway timetable—of interest only to the person making the journey or to some of those the traveller meets on the way and convey nothing of the personality of Canon Duddy or the qualities he exhibited in life to make him such a noted figure.

They convey nothing of his intelligence. He had a brilliant scholastic career and still had some of the certificates to prove how well he had distinguished himself in Rome. He wore his intelligence very lightly, however, behind a cloak of humility and it was only when one was well into a discussion with him that one realised the depth of his intellect, the keenness of his understanding and how ably he could marshal his thoughts and formidably present them. Moreover, unlike some intellectuals, he had the ability to communicate his knowledge and learning especially to children. Indeed, if he was proud about any of his gifts, it was this quality to explain extraordinary things in an ordinary fashion and always accompanied by a cheerful grin. For the Canon was a happy man. Happy with himself, his friends, his family, his people. He rarely grumbled or expressed strong dis-satisfaction even latterly, when his health was failing. His native good humour and bounciness still survived. He was especially happy with his priesthood. It is difficult to imagine him as anything else and it is certain that the thought of any other career or profession never crossed his mind. He understood the radical nature of his priesthood! He knew that some people considered its duties onerous and burdensome, but to him these burdens were made light by his strong faith and his deep loyalty to his calling. Illuminating all his life and work as a priest and man was his deep love and devotion to Our Lady. This showed itself in his prayers, his devotions, his conversation and his feeling for Lourdes. He was Motherwell Diocesan Pilgrimage Director for many years and this summer, when not very able, still made his annual pilgrimage to the Grotto. He was delighted to be made a Canon at Lourdes and considered it the highest honour.

In his last year at St. Monica's, he withdrew to a certain extent from the world. Priests do not seem to train themselves well for retirement. Within the Chapel House however, he was certainly not withdrawn and contributed greatly to its harmony and happiness. His two windows on to the world were his Television and Radio—through which he followed avidly the fortunes of his favourite team which he had supported so well all his life. Some loyalties run very deep!

A huge crowd of priests and people assembled for his Funeral Mass in St. Monica's on 10th October. They came to pay their respects and tributes to a charming, friendly person who had walked through the world doing good, making friends and no enemies. R.I.P.

Rev. Michael Houlihan—15th October, 1986

Father Michael Houlihan, retired parish priest of St. Bride's, Bothwell, died in the Bon Secours Hospital, Glasgow, on 15th October, 1986, in the 68th year of his age and the 44th of his priesthood. At the funeral Mass in St. Bride's on 17th October, prior to interment in St. Patrick's Cemetery, New Stevenston, the following homily was delivered by the Right Reverend Joseph Devine, Bishop of Motherwell:

Father Michael Houlihan was born in Waterford 67 years ago, on 28th May, 1919. He entered St. Kieran's, Kilkenny, from which he was ordained to the priesthood on the 6th June, 1943. A few weeks later he found himself being assigned to the rough and tumble of St. Michael's, Parkhead, in the city of Glasgow. Never physically robust, the urban decay of Parkhead at that time in the context of warfare must have been difficult for him and I assume that it was with a sense of relief in 1946 that he was transferred to the more pleasant setting of St. Mary's in Hamilton. The six years there were good for him. But it was on his transfer to St. Bernadette's in Motherwell in 1952 that deep-seated health problems asserted themselves. For much of the next five or six years he endured protracted illnesses, somewhat alleviated by staying with Father Michael Dooley in Calderbank. In 1959 he became Parish Priest of St. John's, Blackwood, a rural setting which he thoroughly enjoyed and which enjoyed him. His final appointment was to come to Bothwell in 1968. He retired in June of 1984 and died in Bon Secours Hospital in Glasgow, early in the morning of the 15th October. Such are the facts which are a matter of public record. What they scarcely reveal is the quality of the person who lived that life and there was a great deal of quality to Michael Houlihan as well as the great deal of change to which he was subject. The vitality and joy which characterised the young priest from Ireland to arrive in Glasgow 44 years ago was ripped from him by the serious illness which radically altered his expectancy of life. His was to become a life impaired in health and shackled to all the uncertainty which that generates. And he found that hard to accept. That struggle for acceptance became the crucible, the pivot, of his spiritual life. It is the Cross which can only be understood from the inside. For those of us who have enjoyed nothing but good health we can but admire those who carry that Cross with quiet dignity to the end. Quiet dignity was really the personification of Father Houlihan. It is how we will best remember him, the shy smile, the diffident manner, the unassertive delight in meeting others, but a contact which he was unable to sustain for any great length in a social or convivial setting due to the need to retreat into his more private world. That was not really natural to him—it was a discipline which he imposed on himself for reasons he had and for which he hoped we would understand. As a result he spent a good deal of time on his own and that elected solitude was the source of his gravity. But it was a gravity which was compassionate for others, a gravity which was deep in its appreciation of the pain of the human condition. It was impossible to miss his sense of solidarity with the things of the spirit in and through the gentleness of his ways. There was a reverence about it and in him, a pietas.

Such things are not easily won. Already from his biographical details it can be discerned how much the Gethsemene of pain and illness was such a prominent part of his experience of life. But there were remissions. I am sure that he would have seen as his greatest moment the decision of Bishop Thomson to take him from the rural delights of Blackwood to the much bigger arena of Bothwell. He loved being here. He had an enormous affection for this parish community and the Poor Clare Sisters who live in the Convent abutting on to the Church. And he loved this church. Its construction, completion, opening and use captured for him so much of what he felt had been denied him or what he had missed in the earlier parts of his priestly ministry. It is part of our act of remembrance of him that St. Bride's Church will stand in great part to his endeavours.

I suspect that his best years were spent here and certainly they were the years when his health achieved a pattern of stability which must have delighted him every bit as much as it would have surprised him. But that plateau, he knew, was only that. His valley of infirmity and pain could always re-emerge with a dawn of another day. About that there was always a remorseless inevitability. All too soon for him that inevitability became a fact. In 1984 again his health began to fail badly. A protracted stay in Bon Secours Hospital convinced him that he could not carry on here. Although he left quietly he did not leave here easily for it was the last thing he wanted to do. It depressed him for it appeared to him like an admission of defeat, a final defeat for someone who had fought against great odds until there was precious little left to fight with. And he left here almost by stealth as if he was ashamed to be doing so. In addition he left here taking the possessions of a whole lifetime in the boot and back seat of a modest and ageing car. Perhaps that tells us more about him than any words of mine can convey.

After a short stay in Dublin came a surprise. He wanted to come back to Lanarkshire. And back he came to the busy parish of St. Joseph's in Blantyre. I am deeply grateful to the clergy there, particularly Father John F. Gallacher and Father Aidan D'Arcy, for the home which they provided him, as well as the community of St. Joseph's for their affection for him.

A year ago he was again gravely ill, but fought off intimations of mortality as successfully as he had done so many times in the past. Then just over a week ago he admitted himself to Bon Secours Hospital for what was assumed by all to be fairly minor operation. In the course of surgery it emerged that lethal agencies were present and the subsequent prognosis was far from hopeful. All too soon this was confirmed, not least by himself for last Tuesday he knew that he was dying.

Early in the morning of the following day he died. Father Michael Houlihan, the death certificate will say, died of this or that. That will be true. In a deeper sense he died of having lived, like the great Teresa of Avila, on whose feast he died—not a bad day to die for someone who spent, like a good contemplative, a good deal of time on his own, in quiet thought, reflection and prayer.

It is said of Dietrich Bonhoeffer the great German theologian, that in the solitary confinement of his condemned cell in the concentration camp there were only two words written on the wall. They were "Never Alone". Father Michael Houlihan would have understood that story better than most. For the Lord's companionship was vital to him. Sometimes it was the only thing he had, the only place where he could afford to be himself.

But if we all recognise his deep faith and prayer there will be some here who will miss him for other things, the gentleness of his friendship and the allure of his undemanding presence. Others too will miss his spiritual counsel and his prayerful support. In a special way his family and all his relatives will grieve his passing. To each and all of these we convey our condolences.

But though sorrowful our sorrow is not a sorrow which is without hope, for with Father Houlihan, we do believe, with all that is in us in the power of the resurrection. That belief defines us and shapes our lives, for whether we live or die we are made for the Lord. To that Lord we commend with confidence, the gentle, the prayerful, the simple and the apostolic life of our dead brother.

There is a novel called "The Strumpet City". I suspect Father Houlihan never read it, for it would not have been particularly to his taste. But in that book there is a character called "Rashers" who has a dream and a hope. The dream is that when he dies and reaches the gate of heaven he will knock and hear God say "Come on in Rashers, I know your knock".

In prayer Father Houlihan rapped daily on God's door. Today for him, through the celebration of the Eucharist we now do the same, that the Lord will reward him forever with that home where there is no sorrow, no pain, no tears, but only the joy of possessing the Lord even as one is possessed by him. Eternal rest grant unto him O Lord, and let perpetual light shine upon him. May he rest in peace. Amen.

Reverend John Gogarty—30th October, 1986

John Gogarty was born into a well respected family of Mossend in the year 1912. His early schooling in the local Holy Family School and in Our Lady's High, Motherwell, continued his love of the Church which attracted him to the priesthood and led him to nourish his vocation by continuing his education in Blairs. His academic prowess demanded that he should benefit from the facilities of the Gregorian University in Rome. On completion of his studies, he was ordained for the Archdiocese of Glasgow in 1936.

His first curacy was Saint John's, Stevenston. After a short time there, he was transferred to Saint Patrick's, Anderston where he remained as curate and Diocesan Secretary until 1951, when he was appointed Vice-Rector of the Scots College, Rome. He held this post until 1959, the year he was appointed Parish Priest of Our Lady of Fatima's, Dalmarnock. There he was to remain until his retirement through ill health in 1973.

His time of retirement was spent in the company of the many friends he had made during his active years. He spent some time in America before returning to Scotland, which he left in 1980 for Ireland, where he had family and friends. He died on 30th October, 1986, in hospital in Waterford after a long and trying illness. He was 75 years of age.

Bishop Mone presided at his Requiem Mass in Saint Mary's, Tallaght, and at his burial in Glasnevin cemetery. Father Alex Johnston of Glasgow delivered the panegyric. Such are the brief facts of John Gogarty's life. They say but little of the quality and worth of the man and priest.

Those who knew Father Gogarty would readily admit that he was an idealist. He himself did not object to being described as a schizothyme. His high ideals were born of love of his family, love of God and Christ's Church. He could see his ideals being achieved only through following the teaching of the church.

All this was evidenced by his personal priestly style, his love of ceremonial, his meticulous, yet easy and natural fulfilling of the rubrics, his brief but instructive sermons, his enjoyment of priestly company—especially when the subject of conversation was matter theological. He would often say, "It is good for minds to rub against each other, for sparks produce flames".

Idealist he was. He was also a romantic and a realist. This was obvious from his accounts of his years in Anderston. He would talk nostalgically of his times there, of the goodness and sufferings of the people and the companionship of the clergy. Listening to him, names like Andy Lynch, John Martin, Larry Brady, took on flesh and blood and became his hearers' familiars. He had been impressed by such men and their attempts to uplift the minds and hearts of the people. So he would say of his church, "It must be a place of brightness and beauty to lift the minds of our people who live in such dull surroundings." He often spoke of his church and its grounds as "An oasis in a man-made desert". So stand his church and grounds today.

Though he may have appeared stern and aloof, Father Gogarty had a heart for his priests and people. He loved to hear their tales and laughed heartily at their wit and humour. To them he was always most polite and courteous. If he is remembered for this quality alone, he will be happy.

As a priest of his time, he was very much influenced in his thinking and ways by G. K. Chesterton and Hilaire Belloc. He could, and would, quote them at great length and with great relish. He would describe them as "Men of the past who understood Catholicism whom tomorrow's Catholics will not understand".

Finally, and without contrivance, let Father Gogarty's most repeated quote from Belloc speak for him . . .

"Of courtesy, it is much less than courage of Heart or Holiness.
Yet in my walks it seems to me
The grace of God is in courtesy".
May he enjoy the courtesy of God.

Visit of Bishop Valerian D'Souza to Motherwell

The weekend of 24th-26th May saw the first major conference organised by the Motherwell Diocesan Charismatic Renewal Team. The three day conference in the Motherwell Civic Centre was opened on Friday evening 24th May, by Bishop Devine who welcomed the principal speakers at the conference, Bishop Valerian D'Souza, of the diocese of Poona in India, and Father Jim McManus, C.Ss.R. Superior of the Redemptorist House at Kinnoull. Bishop D'Souza took as his central theme acceptance of and doing the will of God.

Special events and workshops for the youth present were led by Bishop D'Souza and Bishop Devine, while Father McManus led similar workshops for adults. The highlight of the conference was the concluding Mass, celebrated by Bishop D'Souza and several priests of the diocese, attended by a congregation of just under 1,000 people. At the end of the Mass, Bishop Devine thanked Bishop D'Souza for his visit and his depth of work over the weekend at the conference, and ensured his support for the continuing work of Charismatic Renewal in the diocese.

Ordination of First Permanent Deacon for a Scottish Diocese

An historic event for the country, and for the diocese of Motherwell in particular took place on the morning of Sunday, 2nd June, 1985, in St. Ninian's Hamilton, when Dr. James Douglas, a retired deputy headteacher of Holy Cross High School became the first married man to be ordained to the permanent diaconate to serve the Church in Scotland. His wife Winnie, and their two sons, took part in the ordination ceremony, described by Bishop Devine as "an unique event for the Church in Scotland and for the diocese". Dr. Douglas is now serving as a deacon in the parish of St. Ninian's, Hillhouse, Hamilton.

Dunkeld Pilgrimage to Iona

In a year marked by the enthusiasm of the Pastoral Congress, the Dunkeld Pilgrimage to Iona was a new venture for the diocese. Seven coaches made their way westwards on the evening of Friday 7th June, one of them assigned to the youth. Early on Saturday morning 360 tired Dunkeld pilgrims were winding their way to the ferry to the astonishment of the good citizens of Oban who were quite unprepared for such an influx. Despite the rain, the pilgrims were thrilled to see a banner held by some of the young people who arrived earlier to form a welcoming party. "Cead mile failte, Dunkeld" couldn't be bettered.

The concelebrated Mass in the ancient abbey church will be a treasured memory for all who were there and coupled with the Sunday Mass in the beautiful Cathedral on the esplanade at Oban marked the climax and the crown of the pilgrimage. In the absence of Bishop MacPherson who had a confirmation engagement, Mgr. Thomas Wynne welcomed very warmly the travellers from the east and it was a gracious thought on his part to have the Offertory and Communion hymns sung in Gaelic by a young member of the Clan McNeill, accompanying herself on the clarsach. The link between Iona and Dunkeld where Columba's relics once lay were indeed forged anew that day.

Farewell Mass for Papal Pro-Nuncio

The farewell Mass in Scotland for Archbishop Bruno Heim, Papal Pro-Nuncio to Great Britain took place in St. Mary's Cathedral, Edinburgh. He retired to his native Switzerland.

Concelebrating were all the Bishops of Scotland with the exception of Bishop Renfrew who was unable to attend.

Cardinal Gordon Gray welcomed the huge congregation and reminded them that they were there to pray for the future health and happiness of a man who had always been a good friend to the Scots. He had always respected and promoted the identity of Scotland as a nation in its own right with its own hierarchy.

The Gospel of the Mass was read by Mgr. Keith Patrick O'Brien, Archbishop-elect of St. Andrews and Edinburgh.

After the Gospel Archbishop Heim said a few informal words which he stressed did not constitute a homily . . . "I am here to say goodbye for a while.

I would be very sad if this farewell was forever. I have always felt so much at home here and so welcome that I hope to return one day."

At the end of Mass the Pro-Nuncio imparted in Latin the solemn Papal Blessing that is the prerogative of a Vatican representative on such occasions.

The Cardinal's Golden Jubilee

The golden years in the priesthood of our beloved Cardinal came full circle when, wearing the same vestments as he did on his ordination day fifty years ago, he walked to the same sanctuary in St. Mary's Cathedral, Edinburgh, to celebrate a Mass of Thanksgiving.

Surrounded by over one hundred concelebrating priests in a packed cathedral he shared a day of heartfelt thanks in an atmosphere of happiness and joy. There was spontaneous applause as the recessional procession wound its way round every aisle. Smilingly, and generously too, the Cardinal shared the plaudits of his people with his successor in the historic See, Archbishop-elect, Mgr. Keith Patrick O'Brien, walking alongside bishop James Monaghan.

The Cardinal thanked all those present, and finally added: "Today I speak to you not as a Bishop, but as a diocesan priest, and I am sure you will pledge your loyalty and obedience to my successor."

Mass to Mark the Silver Jubilee of the Priestly Ordination of Bishop Joseph Devine

On the evening of Thursday, 27th June, Bishop Joseph Devine was honoured by the priests and people of the Diocese of Motherwell at a special Mass in Motherwell Cathedral to mark the silver jubilee of his ordination to the priesthood. The bishop celebrated the Mass along with Bishop Emeritus Francis Thomson, Bishop Charles Renfrew and more than eighty priests of the diocese. The large congregation was made up of representatives from every parish in the diocese, so that the event was uniquely a diocesan one.

Bishop Thomson in his sermon, spoke of the priesthood and the unity with Christ that it represented for all priests. Bishop Renfrew, at the end of Mass, paid tribute to Bishop Devine on behalf of the Archdiocese of Glasgow.

Afterwards at a reception in St. Bride's Hall, Monsignor John Gillen, the Vicar General, presented Bishop Devine with a cheque and an open ciborium as a gift from the priests of the diocese.

Episcopal Ordination of Archbishop Keith Patrick O'Brien

Cardinals, archbishops and bishops from Scotland, England, Ireland and Poland led a capacity congregation when St. Mary's Cathedral, Edinburgh hosted its most remarkable event since the papal visit of Pope John Paul II in 1982.

Fittingly, Cardinal Gordon Gray led the ordaining bishops to confer the fullness of the priesthood on his successor, with retiring papal Pro-Nuncio Archbishop Bruno Heim and Archbishop Thomas Winning as co-consecrators.

There was great dignity in the liturgy and an emotional nostalgic moment when the Cardinal handed over his pastoral staff to Keith Patrick whom he had ordained twenty years before.

About 300 priests and religious were present as well as Cardinal Basil Hume (Westminster), Archbishop Derek Worlock (Liverpool), Archbishop Kevin McNamara (Dublin), Bishop Agnellus Andrew, O.F.M., Bishop John Brewer (Lancaster), Bishop Cahal B. Daly (Down and Connor), Bishop Owen Swindlehurst (Hexham and Newcastle), Bishop J. Srutwa (Poland), Bishop Francis J. Walmsey (HM Forces), and Augustine Hornyak (Ukrainian Exarch).

The ecumenical representatives included the Moderator of the General Assembly, Dr. David Smith, Bishop Haggart, Primus of the Episcopal Church and Canon Kenyon Wright.

The new archbishops's family were seated close to the sanctuary, his seventy-eight years old father, Mark Joseph O'Brien, D.S.M., of Edinburgh, his brother Terence Mark, and wife Barbara, and their four children, Paul, Helen, Stephen and Susan.

The singing was led by the cathedral choir and the archdiocesan choir. The preacher was Bishop Mario Conti, who took as his text the words of Jeremiah: "Halt at the crossroads, look well, and ask yourselves which path it was that stood you in good stead long ago."

At the end of Mass the archbishop thanked all who had come with a particular reference to his fellows Scottish bishops who were all present with the exception of Bishop Maurice Taylor who was in Canada.

A reception was held afterwards in Craiglockhart College. Among the guests was Father Patrick J. O'Hare, parish priest of Ballycastle, Co. Antrim, where Archbishop O'Brien was born.

Also present were former chaplain Father John Robinson, and Mr. Bob McConnell of The Catholic Scouters' Guild.

Monday, 9th September, 1985*Proposed Social Security Reform criticised by Archbishop

The underlying philosophy of the Government's proposed reform of Social Security was sharply criticised by Archbishop Thomas Winning at a rally held in Glasgow's Mitchell Theatre.

The Strathclyde Benefits Rally was supported by the S.T.U.C., Strathclyde Region's Social Work Department, the Church of Scotland and the Catholic Church. Representatives of trade unions, social work agencies and community groups were present.

Archbishop Winning said: "The Church has a preferential option for the poor and the young. But the Church has to transcend politics and not get involved in a class war. We want to see a greater communion of individuals and a greater fulfilment in them of God's gifts."

Commenting on the proposed changes in the social security system, including the proposed means test, the archbishop accused the Government of putting ideology before people and said: "The state has a mandate to serve the nation and will call upon it to serve the poor, the pensioners and the widows."

Ukrainian exiles drawn from many parts of Scotland enjoyed in Edinburgh a historic celebration, the re-dedication of their church in Dalmeny Street, now to be known as "Our Lady of Pochaev and St. Andrew."

At the end of the Mass in the full Ukrainian liturgy, celebrated by the Vice Superior General of the Basilian Fathers, Rev. Vital Pidskalny, a newly painted icon of Our Lady of Pochaev was solemnly blessed. The icon, some three feet by four, is the work of Mr. Wasyl Horeckj, and is really beautiful.

Archbishop Keith Patrick O'Brien praised the Ukrainians for their loyalty to the faith and their great love for Mary the Mother of God.

Others taking part in the service were Abbot Donald McGlynn, Brother Anthony from Nunraw, and Father Augustine Kuzma, the Ukrainian priest for Scotland.

Silver Jubilees of Four Parishes in the Diocese of Motherwell

In the six weeks between 22nd September and 7th November, 1985, no fewer than four parishes of the diocese of Motherwell celebrated the silver jubilee of their foundation: St. Michael's, Moodiesburn, on 29th September; St. Clare's, Easterhouse, on 9th October; St. Edward's, Airdrie, on 13th October and St. Aidan's, Wishaw, on 17th November.

This was clearly a time for the diocese to take pride in much that had been achieved over twenty-five years in each of these parishes. It was fitting, then, that on each occasion the great amount of preparatory work done in each parish should be clearly evident before and during the main liturgical celebrations in the parishes, when the bishop was joined by very many of the priests of the diocese, the four parishes covering a wide area of the diocese. It was a time for the diocese to look back not solely to what had been achieved in the founding of these parishes but to look forward too to consolidating their place and standing in the diocesan community in the years to come.

Editorial comment in "Flourish", the official journal of the Archdiocese of Glasgow, concerning plans to close the British Steel plant at Gartcosh, attracted wide attention in the media.

Fearful of the repercussions for families and whole communities it stated:

"This is not just a political and economic issue. It is also social and moral. To remain silent would be to acquiesce in social evil."

With higher than average unemployment in the West of Scotland and lower industrial investment than elsewhere the editorial comment stated that concern for the welfare of people must come before "arrogant adherence to ideology".

It continued: "The West of Scotland has suffered too much. The disaster about to befall Gartcosh—and its consequences for families throughout the country—is unacceptable.

The Government's convictions must be permeated by love. People must come first. The Government must be seen to act on this principle."

Glasgow City Halls was the venue today for a special conference to mark the 20th anniversary of the founding of the Scottish Catholic International Aid Fund.

The £3½ million raised by Scots Catholics since the foundation of S.C.I.A.F. was a "testament to the unique generosity of Scots Catholics", according to Mr. John McKee, one of the first officials of the organisation.

Cardinal Evaristo Arns of the Brazilian Archdiocese of Sao Paolo was the guest speaker welcomed by Archbishop Winning.

Speaking as a brother, rather than a cardinal, he outlined the situation the poor find themselves in Latin America.

"Can you imagine", he said, "30,000,000 people without the possibility of work or proper housing and what this means for the children? Well, this is happening in Brazil. And the Church has a duty to help alleviate this. We are taking care of over three million children in special centres."

He continued: "We would like the rich countries to know that our debts to them have been paid two or three times just by paying the interest on them".

To complete a special year of pilgrimages, Dunkeld made its presence felt in the Eternal City in October. Iona, Lourdes and now Rome, Dunkeld mark the year of her pastoral congress.

One of the first stops in Rome was the Church of San Lorenzo, where the youth saw the place where the big wooden cross they had carried at the congress had come from. Bishop Vincent Logan celebrated Mass with eight priests in the chapel.

It was a tremendous boost for the pilgrimage to take part in the Wednesday Papal audience and to hear John Paul II thank the diocese of Dunkeld.

"When the Pope was speaking to me and the great cheer went up from all around, it brought back memories of three years before when I was at Bellahouston," Bishop Logan said.

"The Church in Scotland" was the pilgrim theme for the day when the group visited the Scots College and had a warm and friendly welcome from the rector Father Jim Clancy.

Assisi is not far from Rome and its attractions drew the Dunkeld pilgrims there to pray at the shrine of the "Poverello" whose humility and love has left its mark on this beautiful spot and on all who visit it.

Leadership in Prayer, Christian Action and the Apostolate of the Confessional has been the particular field of the Jesuit Fathers during their 125 years in the Sacred Heart Church, Lauriston, Edinburgh.

Archbishop Keith Patrick O'Brien recalled that work when he took part in a service of thanksgiving with the superior, Father Charles Pridgeon, Father Michael Beattie, the parish priest, and the fathers of the community.

"We know", he said "that when the Jesuits came to Edinburgh in 1859 the Catholic population was only about twenty thousand, and two churches served their needs, St. Mary's, now the cathedral, and St. Patrick's.

"Bishop Gillis at that time hoped to build a cathedral not far from Lauriston on a site beside the present Gillis College. So the Jesuits were asked to build a church which would be merely temporary, and could be turned into a hall when the new cathedral was built. However the new cathedral was never built; and the Jesuits have remained in their beautiful church, hallowed by 125 years of prayer."

A Great Asset—Advent '85

Dunkeld's Pastoral Centre is proving a great asset for the diocese. Two of the outstanding seminars held there this season came at the end of the year.

As part of a lecture tour covering Britain, Mickey Quinn shared his ideas with a group of over forty priests, religious and layfolk from all over the diocese.

The topic was preparing families for baptism. What came across straight away was Mickey's quiet, honest and simple style of teaching. Influenced greatly by the Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults, Mickey and Terri Quinn base their programme of preparation on the idea of the Catechumenate from the early church and invite people to meet in their own homes. The programme they proposed consisted of four "evenings" led by a priest, religious or lay person, based on four themes from the Rite of Baptism, Door, Book, Font, Caring.

As a result many parishes initiated programmes of preparation for baptism very successfully in their own areas.

On a site in the heart of Edinburgh where, according to tradition, Christian worship has been celebrated continuously for thirteen centuries, representatives of ten denominations took part in an Act of Intercession and Commitment.

The purpose of the gathering was to inaugurate the Inter-Church Process of Lenten Prayer and discussion towards being united, "Not Strangers but Pilgrims."

Earnestly the twenty-five people, clergy and laity, prayed in the little chapel in St. Cuthbert's, below the Castle Rock; "Lord, forgive our separation and grant us peace and unity."

The financial crisis followed a four year period in which expenditure rose by 74 per cent while income rose by only 18 per cent.

Archbishop Winning had already written to priests asking them to advise parishioners of the situation which he described as an "enormous burden of debt".

The Archbishop also recommended that a finance committee be established in each parish to tackle the problem.

Tuesday, 4th March, 1986*The Lourdes Medical Association

Dundee orthopaedic surgeon, Dr. Bernard Colvin has been appointed chairman of the Lourdes Medical Association. The Association brings together some 120 English speaking doctors but it was in fact the brainchild of a French doctor, Theodore Mangipan, the Director of the Medical Bureau in Lourdes. The idea was that the English-speaking doctors who come to Lourdes each year ought to form an association. Dr. Colvin and eight others liked the idea and soon set up a committee. Their remit was to contact fellow members of the medical profession whom they thought might be interested and also the hierarchies in each country.

Dr. Colvin was also the first Scot to be invited to join the Comité International de Lourdes which has to investigate claims of miraculous cures at Lourdes.

When Bernard Colvin first went to Lourdes it was as a simple pilgrim but his medical expertise was called upon although he admits he didn't have a clue how the sick were cared for in Lourdes or how the hospitals were run. Now he is well versed in all these things and feels the L.M.A. has been of particular help to all the doctors who go out there.

"When I first went I felt rather isolated and I did not know most of my colleagues from other dioceses. Now with the annual meetings of the L.M.A. which Bishop Vincent addressed earlier this year, we all know each other very well indeed."

Friday-Sunday, 7th-9th March, 1986*Pontifical Lay Council

A meeting of representatives of the Pontifical Lay Council from Scotland, England and Wales and Ireland took place in Craighead Retreat House, Bothwell, from Friday, 7th March to Sunday, 9th March. The group faced questions such as how the laity can fulfil their special apostolate in today's world, and how clergy and laity can work better together to further the work of the Church. It was an unique experience for bishops, priests and laity to come together to share their hopes and vision for the future. On Sunday 9th March, Bishop Joseph Devine concelebrated the final Mass for the representatives of the Pontifical Council for the Laity, along with the bishops from Scotland and Ireland as well as the priests who attended the conference. After Mass, the Council and guests adjourned to the Diocesan Centre for a special lunch organised by Miss Farrell and staff of the Centre.

Archbishop O'Brien Visits Bauchi

Archbishop Keith O'Brien, accompanied by Father Daniel Foley, his Vicar Episcopal for Mission Awareness, set off for a visit to the Bauchi Province of Northern Nigeria, at the invitation of the Bishop of Jos, to see the progress that has been made there since Cardinal Gray "adopted" Bauchi in 1957.

He was met at Kano Airport by Father John O'Brien, S.M.A. on 3rd April, the 21st anniversary of his Ordination. At his anniversary Mass, in the church of Our Lady of Fatima, he was surprised to be greeted with the singing of "Ecce Sacerdos Magnus."

In the course of a strenuous tour, sometimes over bad roads and in heat reaching 120 degrees, he met a joyful people, proud members of a vibrant church, served by good priests and nuns like the Ursuline Sisters Eileen, Teresa and Mary at the Bijim Clinic, Father Patrick Lasiri the first priest ordained from Bauchi, Father Danny Simpson from Corstorphine, Father Aidan Cannon from Hawick, Father Finbarr S.M.A. and native African priests Fathers Patrick, Andrew, Stephen and Benedict. He also prayed at the grave of Father John Gibbons of Dunfermline.

Everything seemed to be on a grand scale even the distances between Mass Centres. He stayed two days with Bishop Ganaka of Jos who took him to St. Augustine's Senior Seminary which has 300 seminarians.

At one Mass he baptised forty-two babies. At another he married thirty-four couples and gave First Communion to 140 children and adults. At yet another he confirmed 221 people.

No wonder Father Foley said: "I was never so proud of anybody than the archbishop. In the 1200 mile trip, in unaccustomed heat, he showed great patience and charm."

"It was a wonderful experience," said the archbishop, "quite outwith my wildest dreams. I only wish our people could see, as I have, the work that has been done."

Tuesday, 15th April, 1986*Re-Opening of Refurbished Church of Our Lady and St. Joseph at Kirkwall, Orkney

This was an occasion which brought great joy to the 190 parishioners and their parish priest, Rev. Michael Spencer, S.J. The Orkneys and Shetlands have been pastorally cared for by the Society of Jesus for almost thirty years. This particular church was long overdue for extensive repairs. The church has literally been turned around: the former entry is now the apse. The new altar is of Orkney Stone and is incised with a cross of familiar Orkney design. The lectern is in matching design.

The Dedication Mass was celebrated by Bishop Conti in the company of the parish priest and Canon Robert McDonald, a former parish priest. Among the distinguished guests were the deputy lieutenant and members and clergy from the local churches. The presbytery has also been renewed. The Mass was followed by a dinner at which Bishop Conti complimented the parish priest and parishioners for what had been accomplished, the architect Mr. McClure for his designs and the minister of St. Magnus's Cathedral and the Orkney Island Council for their generous assistance during the months of renovation when Mass was celebrated at the Cathedral.

New Window at St. Margaret's, Lerwick, Shetland

Bishop Mario Conti in making his pastoral visit of the islands was welcomed by the parish priest Father Gerald Fitzgibbon, S.J., when with local churchmen and citizens and some of the 180 parishioners, he blessed a stained glass window completing the restoration of the church undertaken over the previous five years, and made possible largely by the offertory gifts of the Sullom Voe construction workers.

The window depicts local industry both traditional and modern—fishing, hand-knitting in Shetland patterns, and oil exploration and off shore activity. The window was donated by the many friends of the Catholic community, with a grant from the common good fund of the local authority. The window complements the well-known historical glass windows in the Lerwick Town Hall.

The service was an ecumenical one and a social gathering followed.

It was noted that twenty-five years is but a short time in the history of the Church, but in that short time, St. James' had achieved much and can look forward to its future in great and renewed confidence and hope.

Registered Adoption Society

Over 60 years serving the Church in Scotland

PREGNANCY?

We offer a pregnancy counselling service, help (and accommodation when possible) to expectant mothers, whether adoption is indicated or not.

ADOPTION?

We recruit and assess couples or families for children with special needs; e.g. handicapped babies; school age children; sibling groups; etc. There is a special need for families for 10-13 year olds at present in care, in particular for boys.

FOSTERING?

Some children need families prepared to offer them a permanent commitment but they are not free for adoption.

Anyone interested in helping children in the above categories please contact us for further information or discussion, without obligation.

BABIES

Our lists are only open occasionally for babies except for babies with special needs, so most enquirers have to be disappointed. It is not possible to know when the lists will re-open; regular written enquiry is the only possible option.

Ask and it will be given to you...

In 1985 Aid to the Church in Need distributed the equivalent of £26 million worldwide in aid to persecuted and poor churches and to refugees. Once again God has helped us to carry out the promises which we made to those who sought our help. Their prayers and the prayers of our benefactors were answered and so we know that all the wonderful things which Jesus has taught us about the goodness of our heavenly Father are true. We can always trust in His Providence.

Please pray for those who are persecuted or who suffer for their faith and ask God to plant in all our hearts the desire to help His Church in Need.
